Minutes from meeting of 9/16/08

President Richard Topp presided over the meeting. James Winstead gave the invocation and Johnny Stevens lead the club in the Pledge of Allegiance. Thanks to our Greeters this week.

Our guest today:

Paul Scarvarnaw was a guest of Toxy Morris

Scott Hammel of the Longview, TX Rotary Club

Jack Pay was a guest from Petal

Richard Topp reminded us that the following individuals had been approved membership by the board and after being announced for a second time will be officially inducted as Rotarians:

Scott Humel. Katherine Smith: attorney and Keith McLaurin: physician

Todd Bradley reminded Club members of the upcoming golf scramble. The tournament will be held on October 27 at the Shadow Ridge course. Lunch will be served at 11 AM with a shotgun start beginning at 12:30 PM. They are in need of hole sponsorships and would be appreciative of any businesses who wanted to donate prizes with their company logos on it.

LAST WEEK'S PROGRAM

Susan Light was introduced today's guest speaker Billy Courtney and his mother who was kind enough to fill in for George Stevens who has been promoted to the MS State Fire Coordinator Council.

Mr. Courtney expressed thanks to the Rotary club for their generous donations of AED to Lamar County. He shared a story of a patient that was recessitated from one of the AED's that the Rotary Club donated. Thank you for helping to save a life!

Mr. Courtney and his mother discussed the new and first ever scientifically proven method approved from the American Heart Association technique of administering CPR. It is called the Hands Only Approach.

This method was created in an effort to encourage more individuals to stop and help when they see others in need. The Hands Only Approach uses the traditionally 30 compressions' every two minutes with the exception of you do not breathe into the victims' mouth. This helps eliminate fears of catching various diseases.

THIS WEEK'S PROGRAM

Heath Hall is Vice President for External Affairs and Marketing at the Mississippi Technology Alliance, an organization whose mission is to drive innovation and technology-based economic development. He also manages Pointe Innovation Magazine, a quarterly publication devoted to the culture of innovation in Mississippi.

Prior to joining the Mississippi Technology Alliance, Heath served as senior vice president of external affairs at the Mississippi Economic Council, the State Chamber of Commerce, where he managed the marketing, fundraising and public affairs departments. He met or surpassed every fundraising goal by recruiting new members, upgrading current memberships and special issue fundraising. Heath also implemented a sophisticated interactive grassroots communications system and website, providing business leaders with an instantaneous voice at the State Capitol.

Heath worked from 1998-1999 as executive director of Mississippians for Civil Justice Reform/STOP Lawsuit Abuse in Mississippi, a 30,000-member organization committed to achieving civil justice reform through the initiative, legislative and election processes. During his term, he implemented an aggressive fundraising plan, media plan, and a legislative and initiatives plan.

At 28 years old, Heath was a candidate for the United States Congress in Mississippi's fourth congressional district in 1998.

Heath also served as Governor Kirk Fordice's director of public affairs, where his duties included serving as the official spokesman for the governor, writing speeches, coordinating media relations, and managing the public affairs department.

Prior to being named Governor Fordice's director of public affairs, Heath served as the Governor's deputy press secretary. He also worked on Governor Fordice's 1995 reelection campaign as the deputy director of communications.

Heath began his public relations career as an intern with the Federal Railroad Administration in Washington, D.C., later moving into the deputy secretary's office in the United States Department of Transportation. He also served as an intern in the White House Office of Political Affairs during the George H. W. Bush Administration.

Following his position at the White House, Heath became a staff assistant to the director of the Peace Corps of the United States in Washington, D.C. Upon returning to Mississippi in 1993, he moved into the role of public relations/financial development specialist for the American Red Cross of Mississippi.

During his two years with the American Red Cross, Heath managed the major gifts fundraising campaign, which raised thousands of dollars to help Mississippians prevent, prepare for and respond to disasters.

Heath is currently a member of the American Marketing Association, the Magazine Publishers of America, the Association of Fundraising Professionals, the USA Triathlon organization, the Adventure Cycling Association, the League of American Bicyclists, the Jackson-Metro Cyclists
