This edition is all about our Annual Australia Day Breakfast and the National Youth Science Forum. Last week's club meeting was a very quick affair, with little to report. That being the case the bulk of this edition will be dedicated to photos for your enjoyment. (and of course, a weekly joke)

Market Report

It was a beautiful morning on Saturday, with John T, Annette and Paul on market duty, and Sue R came along for the fun making up the four musketeers for the day.

Being a long weekend, there were a few stall holders away and while the shoppers maintained a steady flow all morning, numbers were down, making it a little quieter than usual. No excitement in the lost and found side of things, someone left their shopping at one of the stalls and it was not claimed, so the Market Manager took care of it !

Lots of questions about blueberries, honey dew melons (on ABC radio) and chocolate brownie biscuits (new stall). The lady from Laurel Hill Farm had more blue berries than usual (as her son had been staying and picks fast). She left at about 10am without selling out, as could no longer take the heat.

If you use the CRFM App on your phone, a good tip to note is that you need to ensure it refreshes and updates (swipe down to do so). It seems it does not always update when opened without internet access.

Takings amounted to $226.00 (Green bags $66, red bags $25, Water $40, Cookbook $20, Tables $75, and 20c found).

Stocks of green and red bags in container ok, water almost 5 slabs, and an abundance of cable ties.

NYSF

Please enjoy some pics of our members and the students at both the NYSF dinner and the recovery day.

Australia Day Breakfast

Our Australia Day Breakfast was a massive success. Many thanks to those members who helped on the day. It was a very warm morning and we drew our largest crowd ever. The final figures are not yet in, but based on the quantities of food consumed we had lots of people in attendance.

It was a beautiful morning with a spectacular view over the lake. Members turned up early and worked very hard setting up chairs, table, shade covers and of course the tea and coffee stand, BBQ, and membership booth.

Anton seemed to do a lot of clowning around, keeping the Jerrabomberra locals entertained with his antics! Perhaps bubbles should be his new nick name.

The BBQ was fired up early giving members a chance for a quick bite before the crowds descended upon us. Great sausage work Chilly and David S!

Weekly Joke

A married man was having an affair with his secretary. One day, their passions overcame them in the office and they took off for her house. Exhausted from the afternoon's activities, they fell asleep and awoke at around 8 p.m. As the man threw on his clothes, he told the woman to take his shoes outside and rub them through the grass and dirt. Confused, she nonetheless complied and he slipped into his shoes and drove home. "Where have you been?" demanded his wife when he entered the house. "Darling," replied the man, "I can't lie to you. I've been having an affair with my secretary. I fell asleep in her bed and didn't wake up until eight o'clock." The wife glanced down at his shoes and said, "You liar! You've been playing golf!"
