Craft Talks - Tarek Elnabli & Wilson Encarnacion

The Craft Talks for the meeting of June 22, 2016, were presented by Tarek El Nabli and Wilson Encarnacion.

The two newer members spoke individually; but due to their longtime friendship, their talks had many overlapping themes - a very nice thing!

Tarek was born in Egypt and came to the United States at age 14 to live with family. He spend the years between age 14 and college in New York. Tarek attended Victoria College, the University of Massachusetts, and NYU to work on college courses in economics.

After his college coursework, Tarek when to work for New York Life Insurance Company; however, he now provides residential facilities for elderly clients, is expanding his business to include home care and hospice services.

Wilson grew up in Philadelphia. After schooling, he worked in the hospitality business on the East coast and met Tarek in 1990 when they joined on a mutual project.

Wilson now works in the residential health care business with Tarek. If their business relationship is anything like their Rotary relationship, they will remain highly successful!

Who Gave Rotary Its Wheel?

In 1883, a 16 year young boy named Montague M. Bear came to Chicago from his nearby hometown of Decatur, Illinois. Eventually, after limited schooling and financial hardships, became a successful businessman and a Rotary pioneer.

It was he, Montague “Monty,” who gave Rotary its world-renowned wheel insignia. He came in to the Rotary Club of Chicago as a charter member in 1905. Because of his classification (Engraver), his fellow Rotarians asked him to design a fitting emblem for the new organization. He gave them a sketch of a simple buggy wheel - a basic design representing civilization and movement. Later, some of the members complained that it was too simple and asked him to dress it up. He added a cloud of dust and some streamers and the words, “Rotary Club.”

The design satisfied until 1912 when other Rotarians began experimenting with redesigns of it. In 1919 the wheel was officially adopted and in 1924 the wheel was given a keyway making it a “worker” instead of an “idler.” Today that wheel works for Rotary everywhere.

The wheel has six spokes, one for each founding member and 15 Cogs, one for each of the clubs members during Rotary’s first year.

Monty was voted an honorary member of the Rotary Club of Chicago in 1935, to honor him for his long service to his club and the “mark” he made on Rotary International. Monty remained a Chicago Rotarian until his death in his late 1970s.

Today the Rotary wheel identifies Rotary and Rotarians in every corner of the world. Montague M. Bear was always proud to know that he had given that wheel its first turn on the road to Rotary service.

Note: This story, in part, is from the February, 1970, issue of the Rotarian magazine.
