San Diego Youth Symphony's Community OPUS Project

The Community Opus Project includes after school instrumental orchestra and band programs for students in Chula Vista. Musicians meet together with a team of Teaching Artists – all professional musicians and educators – for two hours of music instruction, twice per week. Classes meet at five elementary schools and are open to students from any Chula Vista school. Students at each of the five Opus sites are divided into two groups: Esperanza and Alegría. Esperanza musicians are the students participating in Opus for the first time. Alegría musicians have at least one year of instrumental experience. Each class for both Esperanza and Alegría musicians includes one hour of full ensemble instruction and one hour of sectional instruction. There are multiple opportunities throughout the year for the musicians to perform at concerts and other events. Opus musicians who are in middle school and who have been learning music for at least two years are welcome to audition for chamber ensembles that rehearse for an hour each week and perform at various venues and events throughout the region. These musicians also meet quarterly to perform as a full-ensemble.

Video of Meeting at:

Mayor Mary Casillas Salas was unavoidably detained at her previous commitment and so her remarks were cut short. She did emphasize the new priority at the City regarding creating jobs and business opportunities contrasted with the previous concern for housing. The new businesses, especially along Third Ave. are the happy result with the existing businesses also benefitting.

The recently announced bayfront development is on 35 of the over 500 acres of property and is being planned by Gaylord to be a real tourism draw for our community.

Measure P is being promoted as a source of funds for public safety in our city as we have the lowest officer per thousand population in the county. It is polling at 60% in favor at this time.

News at Noon

Sponsored by: Betty Waznis

Libraries remain as great information hubs in our society, in spite of the internet availability, and part of keeping our local libraries alive is done by supporting the Chula Vista Public Library Foundation and its annual fund raising event called Bon Appetit. It was held at the Otay Ranch Shopping Center last Saturday. Betty, Carmen, and Donna were there to help at this event with its fun, food, and music

For our May Service project, Chula Vista Rotary will assist at the Innovation Station, the leading edge science and tech lab developed as a partnership with the Chula Vista Elementary School District, Qualcomm, and the Chula Vista Public Library. Each CVESD 6th grader spends a day at the lab to explore science, engineering, math and tech careers, learn basic computer coding and build simple robotic crafts. Our assignment? Be an audience as each teams creates their robocraft, listen and ask questions as they explain their inventions, followed by light clean up. The 6th graders in attendance on May 14th will be from Eastlake Elementary School. Signups coming soon.
