Children's Nature Retreat
Agnes Barrelet— Executive Director

The Children's Nature Retreat welcomes visitors of all ages, allowing everyone to enjoy and explore the beautiful and tranquil surroundings at their leisure.

This magical and serene ranch-style retreat, with its 20-acres of terrain, is a safe haven to over 120 domesticated livestock and exotic animals from around the world.

The retreat is specifically designed to help children develop a sense of wonder for nature and its inhabitants through unstructured exploration and learning.

Fun and educational 'interactive encounters' are available for everyone to learn and foster an appreciation for animals, nature, sustainable farming and the ecosystem.

The Children's Nature Retreat is located on 20 acres of stunning terrain approximately 40 minutes outside San Diego.

Joey Landwehr, Director of JCompany Theater has been directing children's plays for 13 years at the Jewish Center. A graduate of a certain school in Ohio, he came wearing a jacket with patches that represent the plays he has directed.

A few facts about the arts: students score an average of 100 points higher on the SAT, have grades that are 80% better than those who do not have the arts and are 8 times more likely to earn community awards.

The company provides one free performance for each show they do that are expressly for students with special needs.

Suzan Sencan is a parent of children who have autism. She spoke about her children who attend the shows and the summer camp put on by the actors each year. She was very inspirational about how the "Random Acts of Culture" have provided positive experiences that she could find nowhere else.

The investment firm of Edward Jones is unique for it's small branch offices in almost every community. Donna Moss' office is right across the street in the Von's shopping center, on the second floor. Edward Jones has long been known as a conservative firm for the serious minded investor; it's headquarters is in St. Louis and boasts of 10,000 offices across the land. One of our very active member's, Donna, will show you the way.
