

Established in 2005
as a special project to recognise the 100th anniversary of the foundation of Rotary, the Central Blue Mountains
Rotary Centenary Garden is at Blue Mountains
District ANZAC Memorial Hospital, Katoomba, providing continuous pleasure for patients in the palliative care and rehabilitation wards.

The fountain, a work of art in stainless steel, was designed by local sculptor Terrance Plowright.

A Presidents Walk, constructed with pavers, contains names and dates relating to presidents since 1976.

Still on the job, members of Central Blue Rotary have been clipping, cleaning, doing maintenance on the fountain, and generally attending to whatever is necessary to create a pleasant and relaxing environment for the hospital patients and staff.

Our Guest Speaker November 08

Dennis van Someren has been volunteering at Shine for Kids for

Shine for Kids for 8 years. He is also Kenthurst Rotary SHINE for Kids club's community service director.

Shine for Kids is a not for profit organisation that nurtures and cares for children with a parent in prison.

SHINE for Kids was created as the Children of Prisoners' Support Group (COPSG) following the release of The Children of Imprisoned Parents Report, commissioned by the Family and Children's Services Agency, in March 1982.

In December 2004 the name was changed to SHINE for Kids. SHINE stands for five elements of what the organisation does.

Dennis van Someren says: "We support children, facilitate hope; inspire kids to reach their potential; nurture their growth; empower them to succeed."

The organisation receives ongoing funding from the Corrective Services NSW, the Department of Community Services and others.

"SHINE for Kids has a firm belief in the power of early intervention and a focus on collaboration to reduce the negative effects of parental imprisonment on children and young people," Dennis said.

Soar and Roar Festival

More than 100 participants will be served breakfast by Central Blue Mountains Rotary, Upper Blue Mountains Sunrise, and the Rotary e-club of Greater Sydney, on Sunday November 26, before "Team Mustang" (about 30 cars) depart Lilianfels Park, Katoomba, heading to Sydney Motorsport Park, Eastern Creek.

Soar and Roar 2017 is an exciting event for motoring enthusiasts to come together to have fun and raise funds and awareness for Special Olympics Australia.

Special Olympics Australia is proud to launch the SOAR & ROAR Festival, giving people with an intellectual disability the opportunity to experience the thrill of a "Dream Ride".

The festival at Sydney Motorsport Park on November 26 will feature luxury car dream rides, motorbike dream rides and fun activities for people of all ages and abilities.

Money raised support Special Olympics Australia to provide sports opportunities for people with an intellectual disability in communities right across Australia.

While some Special Olympics athletes strive to win medals, others enjoy the chance to get active, have fun, make friends and be part of a family. Whatever their motivation, we cater for them by providing meaningful sports programs delivered within a supportive environment where people with an intellectual disability are accepted and can feel proud.

Graffiti removal success

Seventeen people volunteered to remove graffiti from the upper Blue Mountains, 28 - 29 October.

During two days and a combined effort of 129 hours, they removed 486sq metres of graffiti by painting-out, using chemicals and a high-pressure spray.

The villages of Bulluburra, Wentworth Falls, Leura, Katoomba, Medlow Bath and Blackheath look greatly refreshed; with - perhaps - 95% of graffiti removed.

Sustainable Cambodia's latrine program ensures better health and hygiene

Families receive latrine in Cherng Plerng and Andong Sambour Villages

Program works in conjunction with the Wells and BioSand Filters Programs to ensure clean water by reducing or eliminating the contamination of human fecal matter in local water supplies.
While the latrines are built

Sustainable Cambodia's Latrine

While the latrines are built for individual households, it is often the community that works together to build each latrine in a cooperative effort.

A majority of the costs and materials are provided by SC. Roofs, walls and doors however, are expected to be provided by the participating community.

This fosters a sense of ownership and accomplishment in the community members. It also follows SC's tenant of empowering, instead of creating dependence, in the communities in which it is involved.

World Toilet day - November 19

Such a basic human need - everyone visits the toilet several times a day. Yet, the impact of inadequate (or no) sanitation, especially on women, is devastating. One in three women worldwide risk shame, disease, harassment and even attack because they have nowhere safe to go to the toilet. Some 526 million women have no choice but to go to the toilet in the open. Women and girls living without any toilets spend approximately 97 billion hours each year "finding a place to go".

This has to be an irresistible challenge for Rotarians! The very first Rotary public service project instituted in Chicago in 1907 was the construction of public toilets (often coyly referred to as "comfort stations" in those days!).

More people in the world have a mobile phone than a toilet. Of the world's seven billion people, six billion have mobile phones - only 4.5 billion have access to toilets or latrines. This means that 2.5 billion people, mostly in rural areas, do not have proper sanitation.

Mountain Ghost

You will need more than a day to see everything. It pays to plan your trip. There is an excellent web page that can keep you occupied for hours – well, it kept the Ghost occupied for hours....but he is a slow reader.

AUSTRALIAN MUSEUM - SYDNEY

The Mountain Ghost was reading the Sydney Morning Herald and he came across an article mentioning the 200 Treasures of the Australian Museum.

What is remarkable is that the Ghost still reads newspapers. His children have not bought a paper in five years and rely entirely on online news and Facebook...... well, back to the article.

The Museum has recently announced the opening of the Westpac Long Gallery. This gallery has been completely restored to its original glory and 200 Treasures from the Museum are on display. (100 objects and 100 people that have influenced the Museum and the country).

Some of the objects have come from other parts of the Museum, some were in storage (only 20% of the Museum's collection are ever on display).

Anyway, the Ghost was sufficiently interested to use his Opal Card and travel from Wentworth Falls (taking advantage of the lift) to Museum Station and the short walk to the Museum in College Street.

The last time the Ghost visited the Australian Museum must have been about 10 years ago. How things have improved. The entrance is no longer in College Street but in William Street. Everything is now light and airy and all the exhibits have been freshened up. There are plenty of interactive exhibits.

Back to the Long Gallery. It is very impressive and informative and will be a great international attraction. Some of the items on display are an ancient Egyptian Mummy 2,200 years old; The first Australian bank note issued in 1817 by the Bank of New South Wales; Captain Cook's feathered cape given to him in Hawaii in December 1778 and Eric the Pliosaur, a marine dinosaur that lived 200 million years ago. The bones have now become opalised, quite remarkable. There is also a skeleton of the Irish Elk, the largest deer that ever lived at 3 metres high. The Museum has done a marvellous job on the restoration.

As always a little history on the Australian Museum. It is Australia's oldest museum established in 1827 with the aim of providing "many rare and curious specimens of National History". It was originally housed in the Post Office at Macquarie Place, Sydney and was known as the Sydney Museum or Colonial Museum. It was renamed the Australian Museum in 1836.

A dedicated building was constructed at the current site of William Street in 1846. Construction completed in 1857 with just one exhibition gallery. It has continuously expanded since then. In 2008 a new wing was added and this was the first time the Ghost had seen it. Today there are over 18 million cultural and scientific object held in the Museum.

It has a dual role of research and education and is a world leader in both fields.

If you visit the Australian Museum you will need more than a day to see everything. It pays to plan your trip. There is an excellent web page that can keep you occupied for hours — well, it kept the Ghost occupied for hours but he is a slow reader.

There is an excellent Museum store and coffee shop. Once you pay the general admission price of $15 (or $8 Concession) all other exhibits are free.

Go on, visit the Museum for nostalgia sake, you will thank the Ghost......

90 years of Rotary in the Illawarra

Rotarians are celebrating in the Illawarra this month as the nine clubs in the region mark 90 years of service to the community.

When the Rotary Club of Wollongong was formed in 1927 it was the start of 90 years of service above self to the Illawarra community.

Among the first five Rotary clubs in Australia it was formed out of the Sydney Rotary Club and emerged shortly after the Hoskins family signed an agreement to build a steelworks at Port Kembla.

Business leaders and politicians celebrated the 90th anniversary of Rotary's service above self in the region at City Beach Function Centre on Saturday.

Since 1927 hundreds of Rotarians have been involved in countless projects that include building the road up to Summit Park at Mount Keira in the late 1950s and helping to establish and maintain the lookouts.

The creation of the Greenhouse Park and Rotary NSW Emergency Services Community Awards are among the dozens of other projects Wollongong and other clubs have been involved with regionally, nationally and internationally. story: Illawarra Mercury

Rotary "In the Bag" Project

A team from The Rotary Club of Balgowlah is collecting second hand handbags and filling them with essential contents for women in crisis.

The initiative is part of a campaign by charity "Share The Dignity", which helps women who are homeless or victims of domestic violence.

The charity's "It's In The Bag" initiative aims to encourage people to donate their used handbags and fill them with essentials a homeless woman might need, including soap, toothpaste and toothbrushes, shampoo, conditioner, deodorant and sanitary products.

The club asked its members, supporters and friends to donate bags, which are filled, ready to be distributed by Share The Dignity to women in need.

They are also encouraged to add extra items such as a lipstick, lotion or nail polish....story: Manly Daily

Big Walk for End Polio Now

Rotarians, partners, children – even family pets – gathered at Tench Reserve on the Nepean River, Penrith, recently to take part in a special observance to mark World Polio Day.

A spectacular parade of almost 100 people with the words END POLIO NOW emblazoned on their bright red t-shirts enjoyed a three kilometre stroll in brilliant morning sunshine – much to the interest of early morning joggers.

Rotary clubs of Penrith, Penrith Valley, Nepean, Lower Blue Mountains and Springwood were represented in the walk, broken half way by a pause to plant a tree on the river bank to mark the Global Polio Eradication Initiative involving Rotary International, World Health Organisation, the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation and several other major partners.
