

Welcome to week 7 of the Greater South Oz e-club.

The games have finished and what a wonderful time I have as busy as a lizard drinking but incredible all the same. I am packing to go to Scotland with my friend who has just arrived.

Before I do this little job each week I look at the login from members and honestly it appears that not many of us are looking at our own site so I set the task for the next couple of week as getting to know our own site. Please log in using the lists I sent previously and get to know how it works and what you can do on it. If you have any questions I am sure Webmaster Graham will assist you.

I did go to the cricket however over here the Aussies were talking about rugby but now that bubble has burst as well. Oh well!

So until next week cheers

Cheers for now

Pres. Eric
