Report of Meeting 3170 held on Tuesday 30th March 2021 at Port Adelaide

This meeting was an information and social outing for the Club. The outing commenced with a visit to the restoration project of the clipper ship, The City of Adelaide.

There were 18 Rotarians present as well as Rotarian partners Jim Eccles, Barbara Holton, Julie Reynolds, Lucy Smith, Trena Kretschmer and Jim Williams.

Visiting Rotarian was DGE Jeff Neale from the Rotary Club of Campbelltown. Also present were guests Paul Holton, Phil and Vicki Smith and Dianne Hill.

Following a comprehensive guided tour of the restoration project conducted by Peter Christopher and his colleague, the group enjoyed a meal at the British Hotel.

The City of Adelaide

The City of Adelaide is the world's oldest composite clipper ship (wooden hull on iron frames).

Purpose built in Sunderland, UK in 1864, to carry passengers and cargo to and from the city of Adelaide, South Australia, and named after the city. The City of Adelaide undertook 23 return voyages between London and Adelaide.

Today almost a quarter of a million Australians can trace their heritage to passengers and crew of the ship.

Description of the ship in its heyday. - The frame is of iron with teak wood planking, 195 feet over all, 19 feet depth of hold, and 33 feet 6 inches beam, with lines and proportions which will ensure fast sailing. Nor is speedy progress the only aim, for in her passenger appointments every means have been taken to ensure perfection.

The main saloon is a handsome apartment, decorated with white and gold, and furnished with settees, tables, and sideboard of polished teak, mirrors and pianoforte add to the general effect; while a visit to the state-rooms, of which there are six on each side, show at a glance that nothing is wanting to promote the comfort of voyageurs, even down to hot water warming apparatus.

While in tropical regions there are large ports to afford ventilation and light, and two excellent bathrooms for ladies and gentlemen are provided—one under the break of the poop, and the other abaft the main saloon. Her appearance to a nautical man is extremely pleasing, for while possessing the fine lines of a clipper vessel, there is a neatness about the spars and rigging which adds materially to her appearance.

With the arrival of steamships, the City of Adelaide was sold into the North American timber trade, where it worked for six years as a cargo ship. It saw its next 30 years as an isolation hospital near Southampton, UK, before being taken over by the Royal Navy and used as a drill ship, and as Naval Volunteer Reserve Club rooms on the River Clyde in Scotland.

In 1989 it was moved onto a private slip in Irvine, where it remained until rescued by Australian volunteers and brought to Port Adelaide in 2014. The Clipper Ship City of Adelaide Ltd (CSCOAL) is a volunteer run, not for profit organisation, dedicated to preserving the historic 1864 City of Adelaide, and making it the centre-piece of a seaport village in Port Adelaide's inner harbour. Their progress to date has been due to the generous financial support of individuals and organisations. They continue to rely on this generous support.

They are thankful for those who already contribute their time generously, and they will always welcome new faces, skills and energy to the project.

If people would like to make a donation towards the preservation of the Clipper Ship City of Adelaide or volunteer to work on the project, they can use one of the methods shown on their website.

The Club made a financial contribution towards the project.

Rotary and COVID-19

From the RI website.- As the COVID-19 pandemic spreads uncertainty and hardship around the world, Rotary members and participants are innovating, caring for those affected, and showing that even at a distance, there are ways to help.

As people of action, Rotary members are engaged in their communities — gathering for projects and offering help to those in need. But in many areas, life is changing drastically. Health experts are urging people to maintain distance from others or even isolate themselves in order to slow the spread of the highly contagious virus.

Fighting disease is one of Rotary's main causes, so members already support efforts to promote proper hand washing techniques, teach people other ways to stay healthy, and supply training and vital medical equipment to health care providers. Now they're helping health authorities communicate lifesaving information about COVID-19 and donating protective gear and other supplies to clinics and hospitals that are under strain because of the pandemic. –
