EquipMe Now is on a mission to equip a generation with the skills, confidence & strategies they need to succeed.

Research states 75% of millennials have a quarter-life crisis due to:

Not being where they thought they would be.

Being where they thought they would be, but not happy.

Frustration with their lack of progress compared to others.

The causes of this anxiety include career options, career progression, income levels and ability to buy a property and feel a sense of progress. This crisis in our mid-20s is a direct result of decisions and actions made between the ages of 16-20.

EquipMe is the result of several years working with leaders in business, career strategists, strengths coaches, wealth advisors, recruitment specialists, psychologists and learning experts to design a programme to equip the next generation with all the smarts to think big – and take action!

EquipMe is an expert coaching system for senior high school students and recent school leavers.

The EquipMe programme includes 12-weeks of online learning* combined with three one-on-one coaching sessions.

Our professional coaches work with each student individually to teach you the tools you need to master money and help you design a career you can leverage and a personalised wealth plan you can execute. They'll support you to gain clarity and confidence as you set out on your own personal path to success.

*estimated 2-hour commitment per week

Talent & Strengths Coach

Understand your abilities beyond school subjects or university courses. We all have natural talents, the key is identifying these early, and combining life experiences to develop them into strengths. Leverage your talents, play to your strengths, and focus your energy where you're most likely to excel!

Career & Employability Coach

Our careers expert will build on your strengths coaching session to start designing a career pathway for you that plays to your strengths. You'll learn how to stand out beyond good grades. We'll teach you the personal skills that get you hired and promoted.

Financial & Wealth Coach

To set yourself up for a life you love, you need to know what it's going to cost. Then learn the wealth strategies to get you there. You work for money, and your money should work for you. We'll show you how to position yourself to use leverage, and develop your personalised plan to build wealth from a young age.

“Success is no longer a default outcome of working hard. And there's no point working hard if you don't actually like what you do, or it's not allowing you to live the life you want.”

Our students feel confident about their next steps, with a tailored plan and the tools and confidence to execute it. They understand their potential and how to unlock it. They know what they can earn, what their life will cost, and they have clarity on how they can buy a property and build wealth.

“The best thing about the course was the coaches and the feedback they give you, that personalised feedback is so valuable.”

- Carmen, 17
