

By the number of questions ask I am certain the majority of those present found the evening informative and interesting. Not something that many feel comfortable talking or asking about, but I suspect those who attended were pleased they did so. The year has rushed by but we hope to have at least one more similar event before the end of my term as President.

Next week we have Alon Shaw, yes the spelling of “ Alon” is correct. He is speaking about “What if...” As well as the Geraldine Linen Flax Mill. I am informed he should prove to be an interesting speaker. You will, like me, need to be there; to learn as to what is meant by “What if.” Intriguing and a good reason to come along.

Not long now until the First Half of our AGM meeting. An important meeting but I hope to fly through the routine elements to enable time for another chance for our committees to meet again. Time went by so quickly at our last committee meetings and there is still a lot to discuss. Let's get a project underway and completed in the first half of 2022. Remember we must increase our membership. We are following up on some leads now and I am certain we will have some new faces to join us. However, do not sit back. It is your responsibility to assist with this goal and I look forward to your suggestions.

Keep those cans and packets of food rolling in. What about some instant puddings and jellies? How about a mixture for “chicken tonight”? Come on, now is the time to embarrass me and prove I do need a van to take our contributions to Presbyterian Support. DON'T FORGET, that is no excuse. The Sergeant will be on your tail if you do forget!

Be warned the Sergeant may conduct a test to see who has read my lengthy Presidential dissertation. See you all Tuesday. How about bringing a guest with you? Grandchildren, friends and acquaintances are all welcome to partake in a feast of food and fun!

Hugh the President, no relation to Biden!
