Family Support

for Cambodians
by Cambodians

Helping them to help themselves

CFS visited by Rotarians Mike and
Corinne Gurry and Vin
and Helen Keane in October/November.

Helping vulnerable children

This young girl cares for her 3 younger siblings. Their parents have no option but to seek employment across the border in Thailand leaving the children with very little food and only some help from neighbors.

Helping the disabled

Girls fish for dinner in a pond.
Not much of a catch.

Education - Schools

Building and supporting Literacy Centres where there are no schools

Startups, CFS style

CFS gives poor families and village self-help groups a small amount to help them start an income-generating venture tailored to their particular situation

Farming ducks, chickens, mushrooms

Sugarcane juice-mobile. The setup is attached to a motorbike. This couple now makes enough to support themselves.

Small village shop

Pond for raising fish

Market garden

CFS provides adequate shelter to replace house like these....

And these...
