Tell us a little about your project. What are the main objectives of the project, and who will benefit from it?

The Basma Centre (also known as the Jerusalem Princess Basma Centre for Children with Disabilities) in East Jerusalem was established in 1965 as a rehabilitation center for children with polio. In 1987 it became an "inclusive school" in which disabled students study alongside students without disabilities. It is a charitable, non-governmental, non-profit organization and school for 600 students, 200 of which are Palestinian children with disabilities. Disabilities include hearing, speech, physical, cognitive impairment, autism spectrum disorder, and ADHD. The Basma Centre is a Cooperating Organization as well as a Beneficiary Organization. An MOU for a Cooperating Organization is attached as Exhibit 1.

The specific objectives of the project are to make the library more accessible to handicapped children, improve technology in the library to upgrade computers and provide adaptive devices and software programs designed specifically for students with disabilities. The project will also provide training for teachers and staff not only in use of the new technology, but to improve teaching skills and classroom management. In addition, training will be given to prevent, detect, report, and deal with various forms of abuse these students encounter.

The beneficiaries are primarily the disabled children, who will receive instruction through technology designed for them not heretofore available to the Centre. Teachers will benefit from the training on the new technology by becoming more adept and capable with technology. This benefits them personally and benefits their students because they are more effective. The training to prevent, identify, report, and deal with abuse clearly and directly benefits the children, but it also benefits the families and community. Abuse of any kind has economic, legal, familial, psychological, and societal consequences.

Cooperating Organizations (Optional)

Do any committee members have a potential conflict of interest related to a cooperating organization?

No

Why did you choose to partner with this organization and what will its role be?

Rotarians in the Rotary Club of East Jerusalem want to support institutions and organizations in the community that provide services and education to the underserved segments of the local community.

Basma Centre is a Cooperating Organization, but it is also a Beneficiary Organization because its students, teachers, staff, parents, and community will benefit from this project. Basma Centre has cooperated by assisting in the Community Assessment, helped to design the M&E plan, and provided professional and technical guidance in designing the project and preparing the application. The Centre also, of course, will be very instrumental in implementing the project, performing the M&E , preparing reports, and sustaining the project.

Describe the role that international Rotarians will have in this project.

In March, 2017 Tucson Sunset Rotarian Michael Drake, PDG and current Chair of DRFC in D5500, attended a meeting of the East Jerusalem club and became acquainted with its members. He and local Rotarians toured the Basma Centre school and met with school administrators to discuss and plan the project. Drake continued communicating with Basel Husseini, host club Primary Contact, to assist in preparation of the application. Tucson Sunset Rotarians gave club programs to 12 Rotary Clubs in D5500 to present and explain the project and enlist support. Drake will give periodic reports to those clubs about progress of the project and will return to each club to give a program after the project is implemented. A goal after implementation of the project is to have a Rotary Friendship Exchange between the East Jerusalem and Tucson Sunset clubs.

Sustainability

Humanitarian Projects

Project planning

specifically, the needs to be served are:

1. Improve the school library. This is done by making it more accessible and usable for these students. In addition, the technology in the library will be improved and updated with new computers and equipment, and various adaptive devices so disabled students can use them. Software programs will be purchased specifically designed to teach these students.
2. Librarians, computer lab teachers, other teachers, and staff will need training to properly use the new technology and enhance their skills and classroom management.
3. Teachers, rehab professionals, and staff need training to better prevent, detect, report, and deal with abuse of the disabled students. The abuse can be physical, sexual, emotional, and psychological.

More broadly, children with disabilities (CWD) in Palestine have many needs in general. There is a dearth of services and support for them. There is lack of funding and support from governmental agencies. Children with multiple or cognitive disabilities receive low scores when 'quality of life' is measured. These children experience social discrimination, stigmatization, and isolation. This is all fully studied, explained, and documented in the December 2016 report by UNICEF and the Overseas Development Institute entitled "Every Child Counts: understanding the needs and perspectives of children with disabilities in the State of Palestine." The bottom line: "Palestinian children with disabilities have very few opportunities to participate in the broader experiences critical to childhood."

Accessibility to children with disabilities to education and/or to use all schools facilities remains to be limited although it is considered a matter of right that is entitled to all children with disabilities according to the fundamental values in the International Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities.

In Palestine, a 2011 PCBS (Palestinian Central Bureau of Statistics) survey on individuals with disabilities highlighted that the average percentage of disabled individuals in the Palestinian community reached 2.7% (2.9% males, and 2.5% females) according to a narrow definition of disability, while this percentage reaches 7% when applying an expanded definition of disability.

Moreover, persons/children with disabilities continue to be among the most marginalized groups in Palestine, and continue to face several obstacles and challenges that prevent their effective participation in society on equal terms with others. The lack of social acceptance to persons with disabilities often leads to discrimination, marginalization and isolation from society.

In regards to Education of children with disabilities, despite the inclusive education policy adopted by the Palestinian Ministry of Education as part of the EFA (Education for All) policy, students with disabilities are still not fully accommodated in the education system and further improvements and adaptations need to be made.

The Palestinian Ministry of Education adopted a policy of integrating students with disabilities in public schools through the inclusive education program on the legal basis of the Law of the Rights of Persons with Disabilities (No. 4, enacted in 1999) to ensure that persons with disabilities obtain all rights, including the right for education. However, the law lacks mechanisms to oversee accountability and ensure its full implementation. Although many years passed since the implementation of the inclusive education program in public schools, 37.6 % of individuals with disabilities of any kind (including mental disabilities) did not access education at all, while 33.8% of them were enrolled and had some education, but dropped out before completing secondary stage education, 5,152 male and female students with disabilities have been integrated in public schools in the West Bank up to 2012/2013. The percentage of students with disabilities integrated in public schools reached approximately 0.96 % of the total number of students in public schools in Palestine.

How did your project team identify these needs?

In general terms, the Basma Centre is keenly aware of the needs of its disabled students. It has worked with these children and their families for many years.

and make suggestions. In 2015-16 specific requests were made to update the library and make it more accessible and usable to disabled students. In individual meetings with the school Principal parents requested the library be updated and made more accessible.

2. On June 9, 2016 a SWOT analysis (Strengths, Weaknesses, Opportunities, and Threats) was undertaken by teachers, administrators, and staff. It showed great need to update IT systems at the school and integrate those systems into the educational process, particularly in the library and for disabled students.

The needs analysis was conducted in group discussion at the school, where the teachers, the school administration and the programs department participated in the meeting. The meeting methodology included a group discussion, followed by group works to determine the strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats. The results of the groups work were presented and discussed among the big group for further discussion and feedback.

The session was led by the programs department, and the programs officer wrote the analysis report and was shared among senior team members. Approximately 25 teachers representing the different academic levels (elementary, intermediate and upper classes), teacher assistants and members of the administration office attend the session.

Among other needs identified was "activation of e-learning and upgrading the IT system in the school facilities this includes the library, the science lab, the classrooms, and to make it more accessible to children with disabilities." See attached Agenda, Attendance Record Ex. 7, and Report on the SWOT Ex. 8.

3. Experts were consulted. A meeting was conducted during December, 2017 with an IT company specialized in the field of accessibility in the East Jerusalem area for students with disabilities. The discussion involved a visit to the library location and a potential cooperation with the company to provide consultation on needed IT equipment that would be suitable for students with various kinds of disability. Also, potential training needs for teachers in the school on the upgraded IT system. Based on this meeting and the communication with the company, the training sessions for the teachers on the IT systems were designed.

Also, internal discussions and decision among the Basma Centre Senior Management Team with approval of the General Director were carried out on the need for developing the capacities of the Inclusive School in regards of infrastructure, development of programs and providing necessary equipment tools and trainings for the school staff.

How were members of the benefiting community involved in finding solutions?

As discussed above, parents expressed their concerns and requests regarding accessibility and the need for upgrading technology in the library, particularly to benefit the disabled students. Teachers, staff, rehab professionals, and administrators all participated in the SWOT analysis and discussions with the IT professionals.

How were community members involved in planning the project?

Helping the members of the Rotary Club of East Jerusalem, especially Projects Chair and President-Elect Basel Husseini and President Salah Hidmi in planning the project were teachers and administrators of the Basma Centre, especially General Director Ibrahim Faltas and Senior Programs Officer Nisreen Manarious.

Project implementation

1	Establish base-line data described in M & E plan; do renovation work in library; purchase and install new IT equipment; arrange and schedule training	2 months
2	Conduct training	3 months
3	Six months after use of the new IT equipment and programs, repeat measurements of criteria in M & E plan to measure change.	1 month
4	One year after use of IT equipment and training, repeat measurements and do evaluation	1 month

Will you work in coordination with any related initiatives in the community?

No

Please explain. Are local initiatives not addressing these needs? Or, if they are, why did you decide not to work with them?

Unfortunately local initiatives are not addressing these needs. The focus of the project will be to increase the effectiveness of the work done at Basma Centre.

Please describe the training, community outreach, or educational programs this project will include.

The project contemplates two primary areas of training . See attached Training Plans for Global Grants Ex. 9.

1- A training workshop will be conducted on the new IT system for the school teachers, librarians, and computer lab instructors. This training will be conducted by the supplier as part of the contract. In addition, outside trainers will be hired to conduct additional IT training. See Ex. 13.

2. Training will be given to teachers, rehab professionals, and staff to prevent, detect, report, and deal with abuse of the students. Basma Centre staff will facilitate the training with the volunteer advice and oversight of Dr. Rasha Mukbit. A suitable facility for the training will be rented. See Ex. 10, Ex. 11, and Ex. 12, CV of Dr. Rasha Mukbit.

How were these needs identified?

See the section above on how the team identified the needs of the community. Clearly, with introduction of new technology, training will be necessary for its use. In addition, currently there is no specific training or emphasis on dealing with child abuse. And it is a big problem, particularly for disabled children in environments that are poor and are socially and politically fragmented.

What incentives (for example, monetary compensation, awards, certification, or publicity), will you use, if any, to encourage community members to participate in the project?

No monetary incentives are contemplated. The prospect of a better education for their children should motivate parents. In addition, the Basma Centre, the Rotary Club of East Jerusalem, the Rotary Club of Tucson Sunset, and the Rotary Foundation of Rotary International will publicize this very needed and beneficial project in their respective communities and through available media.

List any community members or community groups that will oversee the continuation of the project after grant-funded activities conclude.

Clearly, the Basma Centre will continue the work started by this project. Not only are personnel at the Centre consummate professionals and would do so anyway, but the Cooperating Organization MOU requires it.

In addition, members of the Rotary Club of East Jerusalem will continue to support the Centre and its work

Budget

Will you purchase budget items from local vendors?

Yes

Explain the process you used to select vendors.

The Rotarians are professionals and leaders in the community and are familiar with businesses and vendors in the community. The Basma Centre has been serving the Palestinian community in East Jerusalem and the West Bank for many years. It is familiar with vendors that are professional, reliable, and honest. Rotarians and the Centre identified vendors appropriate for the needs of this project, contacted them, and received bid proposals.

Local vendors are preferred because they are readily available to provide training and to perform maintenance and repairs as needed. This, of course, enhances the sustainability of the project.

Did you use competitive bidding to select vendors?

Yes

Please provide an operations and maintenance plan for the equipment or materials you anticipate purchasing for this project. This plan should include who will operate and maintain the equipment and how they will be trained.

A one year guarantee will be agreed upon with supplier for maintaining these items as part of the purchase contract. A yearly maintenance contract will be signed by Basma Centre with the supplier after the first year of the project. In house Basma Centre IT professionals are also available to assist.

Describe how community members will maintain the equipment after grant-funded activities conclude. Will replacement parts be available?

The Centre will own the equipment and materials purchased. It is responsible for long term maintenance. Not only is that in the Centre's interest, it is required by the MOU: "After completion of the project, [the Centre shall] provide for maintenance and repair of equipment that was purchased with grant funds."

If the grant will be used to purchase any equipment, will the equipment be culturally appropriate and conform to the community's technology standards?

Yes

Please explain.

The Rotarians, the Centre, and the larger East Jerusalem community are technologically advanced and have high standards. Also, and perhaps more to the point, the equipment will be appropriate for children with disabilities. It includes adaptive devices and programs specifically designed for them.

After the project is completed, who will own the items purchased by grant funds? No items may be owned by a Rotary district, club, or member.

Basma Centre.

Funding

Please describe this funding source.

As described, the Basma Centre, with other funds from its operating budget, will sustain the project outcomes for the long term.

Will any part of the project generate income for ongoing project funding? If yes, please explain.

No
