Rotary learns about new wind turbine

Matt Robinette of Omaha, vice president of development for Bluestem Energy Solutions, talked to the Seward Rotary Club Feb. 14 about the Seward wind turbine project west of Seward.

He addressed the benefits of the energy program and the numerous advantages to using wind energy. The Seward County wind turbine, for example, contributes the equivalent of 4.5 new landowners and consumes no water during the operation. The project will power over 600 homes annually. The turbine is a $4 million project and is geared to last 30 years.
