

The 15th Annual George K. Davis Water Project Award was presented to the Denver Rotary Club for William Korstad's 'Fada Water, Sanitation and Hygiene, Burkina Faso' in West Africa – Rotary International Global Grant #1418148. The project was conducted October 1, 2013 – November 30, 2015.

The Award was for a project created by William Korstad (Rotary Club of Denver) and Davy Yago Ouagadougou Crystal Rotary Club, Burkina Fao. Among other items, the project accomplished the following:

- Water – four deep water wells providing over 3,500 villagers with clean water
- Sanitation – over 900 students and 20 teachers with 6 gender specific latrines
- Hygiene – 10 wash stations
- Hygiene Training – over 1,000 people trained in safe hygienic practices
- Hygiene Awareness – over 13,000 people, including over 5,300 students, saw a social arts play on hygiene.

The George Davis Water Project Award is sponsored by the Lakewood Foothills Rotary Club named after the late George Davis, past President of the Lakewood Foothills club, a Rotarian and Professor of Civil Engineering Technology at Metropolitan State College in Denver, CO. The Award recognizes George for his leadership and commitment to Rotary, for his water catchment projects in Nicaragua, and for his vision for Rotary Water Projects in Honduras and global water projects.
