District Conference, A Special Event

This past weekend

golfers were focused on the Master. We all wondered what happen to Spring as the snow and temperatures fell. In the Inn at Pocono Manor our District hosted a very special event, the annual District Conference. Let me give you a recap and some numbers.

The Conference featured videos from former exchange students talking to us about how Rotary shaped their lives. Lydia Sarson, a former outbound exchange student from Fleetwood, shared how being an exchange student prepared her to lead the Institute Equips Regional Leaders to Advance Rotary's Story

Regional leaders from around the globe gathered at Rotary World Headquarters in Evanston in early March to learn how to help members strengthen clubs, enhance Rotary's image, advance humanitarian projects, and tell Rotary's story. Many of the participants were impressed to learn about new tools available on Rotary.org.

German American Chamber of Commerce in Philadelphia. She also thank the Rotarians who saw capabilities in her she had yet to discover.

Be a gift to the world

Our Rotary International President's Representative came up from Dallas Texas. Gilbert and Linda Brown joined in every aspect of the Conference including helping to decorate the hospitality room. They not only became part of our District but contributed $10,000 to our District Million Dollar Journey. What an amazing and generous gift!

Our Exchange Students and Four Way Test Speech Contestants help us see we have a very bright future. They all had a wonderful experience and hopefully we helped them get one step closer to being lifelong Rotarians.

Cow Pie Bingo was a big hit and we raised $5,000 net proceeds to use to feed the hungry. Thanks to everyone who contributed and helped package meals. We packaged 16,200 meals. They left the Poconos with six Rotary clubs and were distributed to 8 food pantries in our District.

Elias Thomas, my longtime friend from Maine, reminded us what fighting Polio in India looks like, feels like and sounds like. His imitation of an iron long helping someone breathe silenced the audience.

On Sunday we said goodbye to seventeen Rotarians we lost during the year. A fitting salute to true but silent heroes. Professor Jayden Sampson gave us an historic perspective and statistical view of the number of law enforcement stops, arrests and convictions by race and gender. This was an eye opening presentation. We clearly have a problem that is not easily solved but one that we as Rotarians must address because our Four Way Test is being violated and it's not Fair to anyone.

Finally, as he does each year, Chris Hornaman sent us home with a video of the weekend and many fond memories.

For Mary and me the greatest part of the weekend was how many people stepped up and helped make our District's Conference an incredible success. We cannot thank all who volunteered their time and energy enough for everything they did...Thank you.

Heroes—International Women's Day

Rotary International joined with Oppenheimer and World Bank to celebrate International Women's Day on Tuesday, March 8. Hosted and sponsored by World Bank, the online session illustrated the power of women to change the world by improving lives through projects in areas of education and health.

The session featured two Rotarians, Marion Bunch, Chief Executive Officer of Rotarians for Family Health and AIDS Prevention and Jennifer Jones, Director of Rotary International's Global Board. The work of these women includes health care and education in several developing countries. Ms. Jones's bio states she participated in Rotaplast missions. (Thank you to PDG Roger Whitcomb, Emmaus RC Rotaplast champion.)

6 From Valley Were in Brussels Airport During Bombing

Be a gift to the world

The team of volunteers had been rebuilding a school in Africa. All are safe.

By Dan Sheehan and Andrew Wagaman Of The Allentown Morning Call

On Easter morning, Chris Hornaman was still catching up on the sleep he lost after he found himself at Brussels Airport on Tuesday, when terrorist bombs killed 14 people.

So it fell to his wife, Cindy, to recount the harrowing tale of his travels, which took him and five other Lehigh Valley volunteers from the African nation of Sierra Leone to Belgium to Germany and, finally, home.

In measured tones, Cindy Hornaman told how her phone chimed at 3 a.m. Tuesday with a text from her husband: "Explosions. We are OK. Watch the news."

The news, of course, was horrifying: scene after scene of the wrecked and smoke-filled airport, with wounded travelers sprawled on the floors and furniture. Then, later, more horror: a metro station bombing that killed 20. It was the worst terrorist attack in Belgium's history. The Lehigh Valley residents were only in Belgium that morning because their earlier flight out of Sierra Leone — where they had been as part of a Rotary Club/Engineers Without Borders mission to rebuild a school — had been delayed by a day.

Engineers Without Borders is a volunteer group that helps coordinate construction in struggling nations. The engineers and Rotarians had been working at the Centennial Secondary School in the rural village of Mattru Jong, which had been ransacked by rebels during Sierra Leone's 1991-2002 civil war.

This was the third trip for Herb Klotz, president of the Allentown West Rotary, and the Macungie man was thrilled by the progress he found. Both test scores and community interest in the school have improved. Only about 20 parents showed up to a meeting with the volunteer group on Klotz's first trip. This time, with only a day's notice from the principal, 200 parents showed up.

On this trip, volunteers completed the final stages of a long project to restore the school, installing solar panels for electricity to complement the running water and sanitation system they built two years ago.

Since the Ebola outbreak, the Sierra Leone government has prohibited schools from charging extra student fees, thinking the fees would act as a deterrent to returning. But Klotz said parents demanded that government officials allow them to pay the fee so the school could maintain the improvements Engineers Without Borders has made.

"It was like a dream," Klotz said. "All these parents were clearly saying, 'We care about these kids' future.' Something has really changed."

Besides Klotz and Hornaman, an engineer and Emmaus Rotarian, the volunteers were Carl Zvanut and Tom Powers, also of Engineers Without Borders; Jennifer Holman, assistant superintendent of the Northwestern Lehigh School District; and Pete McKnight, a teacher in the district.

The Northwestern Lehigh employees had gone along to determine whether the district could enter into a cooperative long-distance learning program with the Sierra Leone teachers.

The group arrived at Brussels Airport from Sierra Leone shortly after 6 a.m. Tuesday, Klotz said. They were seated in a transit area when the bombs exploded in the unsecured entry to the airport.

Be a gift to the world

No one in the group heard or felt a thing, Klotz said. But they knew something was wrong when other travelers and security personnel came running down the Terminal B hall toward them.

Travelers were ushered to the end of the terminal and then onto the tarmac. After about an hour standing in the chilly Brussels weather, the Lehigh Valley volunteers were bused away.

"Where we were, it was very orderly, and most people were calm," Klotz said. "The people that were most worried were back home and in Mattru." The group caught a second bus to Leuven, a college town about 18 miles away, and acted quickly enough to book hotel rooms online. Members of the Leuven Rotary club — Rotary is, in every respect, an international group — cared for them and got them on a train for Germany.

They spent the next two days figuring out how to get home, and eventually found a flight out of Frankfurt, Germany.

The weary travelers arrived at 5 p.m. Saturday at Newark Liberty International Airport, where all their spouses were waiting.

"I was very thankful to go to church this morning," said Klotz, a member of St. Thomas More Church in Salisbury Township.

The mission itself was a great success, Cindy Hornaman said. It's what her husband and the others want to focus on now that they are safely home.

"I think it's going to hit them at some point in terms of how lucky they were," she said. "On this end, it was a little bit more than stressful."

Klotz said he's already looking forward to the next trip to Sierra Leone.

Two events are scheduled in coming days and weeks to help Rotarians and Engineers Without Borders with their volunteer missions.

Did You Know?

Here are some facts about the 1500's: Houses had thatched roofs, thick straw piled high, with no wood underneath. There was nothing to stop things from falling into the house. This posed a real problem in the bedroom, where bugs and other droppings could mess up your nice clean bed. Hence, a bed with big posts and a sheet hung over the top afforded some protection. That's how canopy beds came into existence.

The only 15 letter word that can be spelled without repeating a letter is "uncopyrightable".

BEQUEST SOCIETY -- STRANGE FACT:

For every SEVEN Rotarians that list the RI Foundation in their will, on average SIX never get around to telling Rotary that they did so. And they have missed the chance to direct those monies to a specific use. Please contact PDG Bill Palmer at bill966@ptd.net to have your bequest recognized by RI, or at least to be counted as part of our D7430 total commitment.

"I am" is the shortest complete sentence in the English language.

RID = Rotary International Director; RIPE = Rotary International President-Elect; and ROTARY ACRONYMS are listed with their meanings on the D7430 website at --- http://rotarydistrict7430.org/ SitePage/did-you-know

Allentown West: REPORT FROM SIERRA LEONE, AFRICA

For two weeks in March Allentown West Rotary's President Herb Klotz and Engineers Without Borders engineers are working on the Global Grant project at the Centennial School in Sierra Leone. The local Bo Rotary Club hosts the project.

The work this time is partly covered by a Rotary Global Grant. It includes, among other things, installing solar panels and adding electrical wiring in the Administration building.

Also two educators from the Northwestern Lehigh School District were there on a Rotary District Grant meeting with local teachers and staff. Herb Klotz led a meeting with the Parent-Teacher Association. Approximately 200 people attended, which is a great turnout. They discussed the projects and the development fund. The parents are very supportive of the projects.

Pete and Jennifer, the Northwestern educators gave feedback to the school on what they have observed.

Bethlehem:

The Community Bike Works celebrated its 20th anniversary at Coca-Cola Park on Thursday, March 17th, and brought along the van purchased in part with funds raised from the Bethlehem Rotary Club's District Grant. The van is already helping children throughout the Lehigh Valley to repair, restore and ride their bicycles. Our club was recognized for its support and the van, bedecked with the Rotary logo, was parked out front for all to see.

Morning Star Rotary Club provided dinner for 35 guests of the Bethlehem Emergency Shelter last Thursday at Cathedral Church of the Nativity. Heartfelt thanks and appreciation for the fine effort by Morning Star Rotarians in contributing, preparing and serving the dinner at Bethlehem Emergency Sheltering.

In our best Morning Star tradition, our service was to the individual men as guests at the Shelter. Their appreciation was evident in the many "Thank you!"s received during the event. One friend of a guest was absolutely amazed with the dinner provided – "meat lasagna for dinner at a shelter!!! Unreal!"

Easton:

In honor of "pi Day", math students at Notre Dame High School in Bethlehem, PA participated in a Memory Contest sponsored by the Easton Rotary Club. Ms. Roseann Mintzer, head of the Math Department and 2015 Easton Rotary Teacher of the Year, organized the event.

The following winners were announced last week: The First Place winner was Kristina Guth who memorized pi to 200 digits; Dannielle Hibshman was the Second Place winner with 109 digits; and Nicole Schaeffer took Third Place with 106 digits. Easton Rotary Club hopes to have this contest open to all local high schools next year.

Rotary has released $35 million in new grants to support the global effort to eradicate polio. The funds will build on last year's historic achievement of stopping transmission of the wild poliovirus in Nigeria and all of Africa. Just two countries reported wild polio cases in 2015, Afghanistan and Pakistan. Rotary's funds will go toward efforts to end the disease in those countries and seven others.
