About Anas Alhamati

Anas Alhamati, a Yemeni peace advocate and humanitarian worker, is dedicated to easing the suffering of his fellow citizens amidst Yemen's conflict. Raised in Yemen, he witnessed firsthand the devastating impact of war on his community. As a 2021 Rotary Peace Fellow, Anas extends his advocacy for peace and reconciliation.

- The beginning of the story:
- It's not just about personal journey, but rather a tale of the enduring power of hope and belief.
- It's about finding strength when everything seems to be falling apart, when your faith is tested, and you're faced with a critical choice: to surrender or to sow the seeds of hope.

ABOUT Yemen

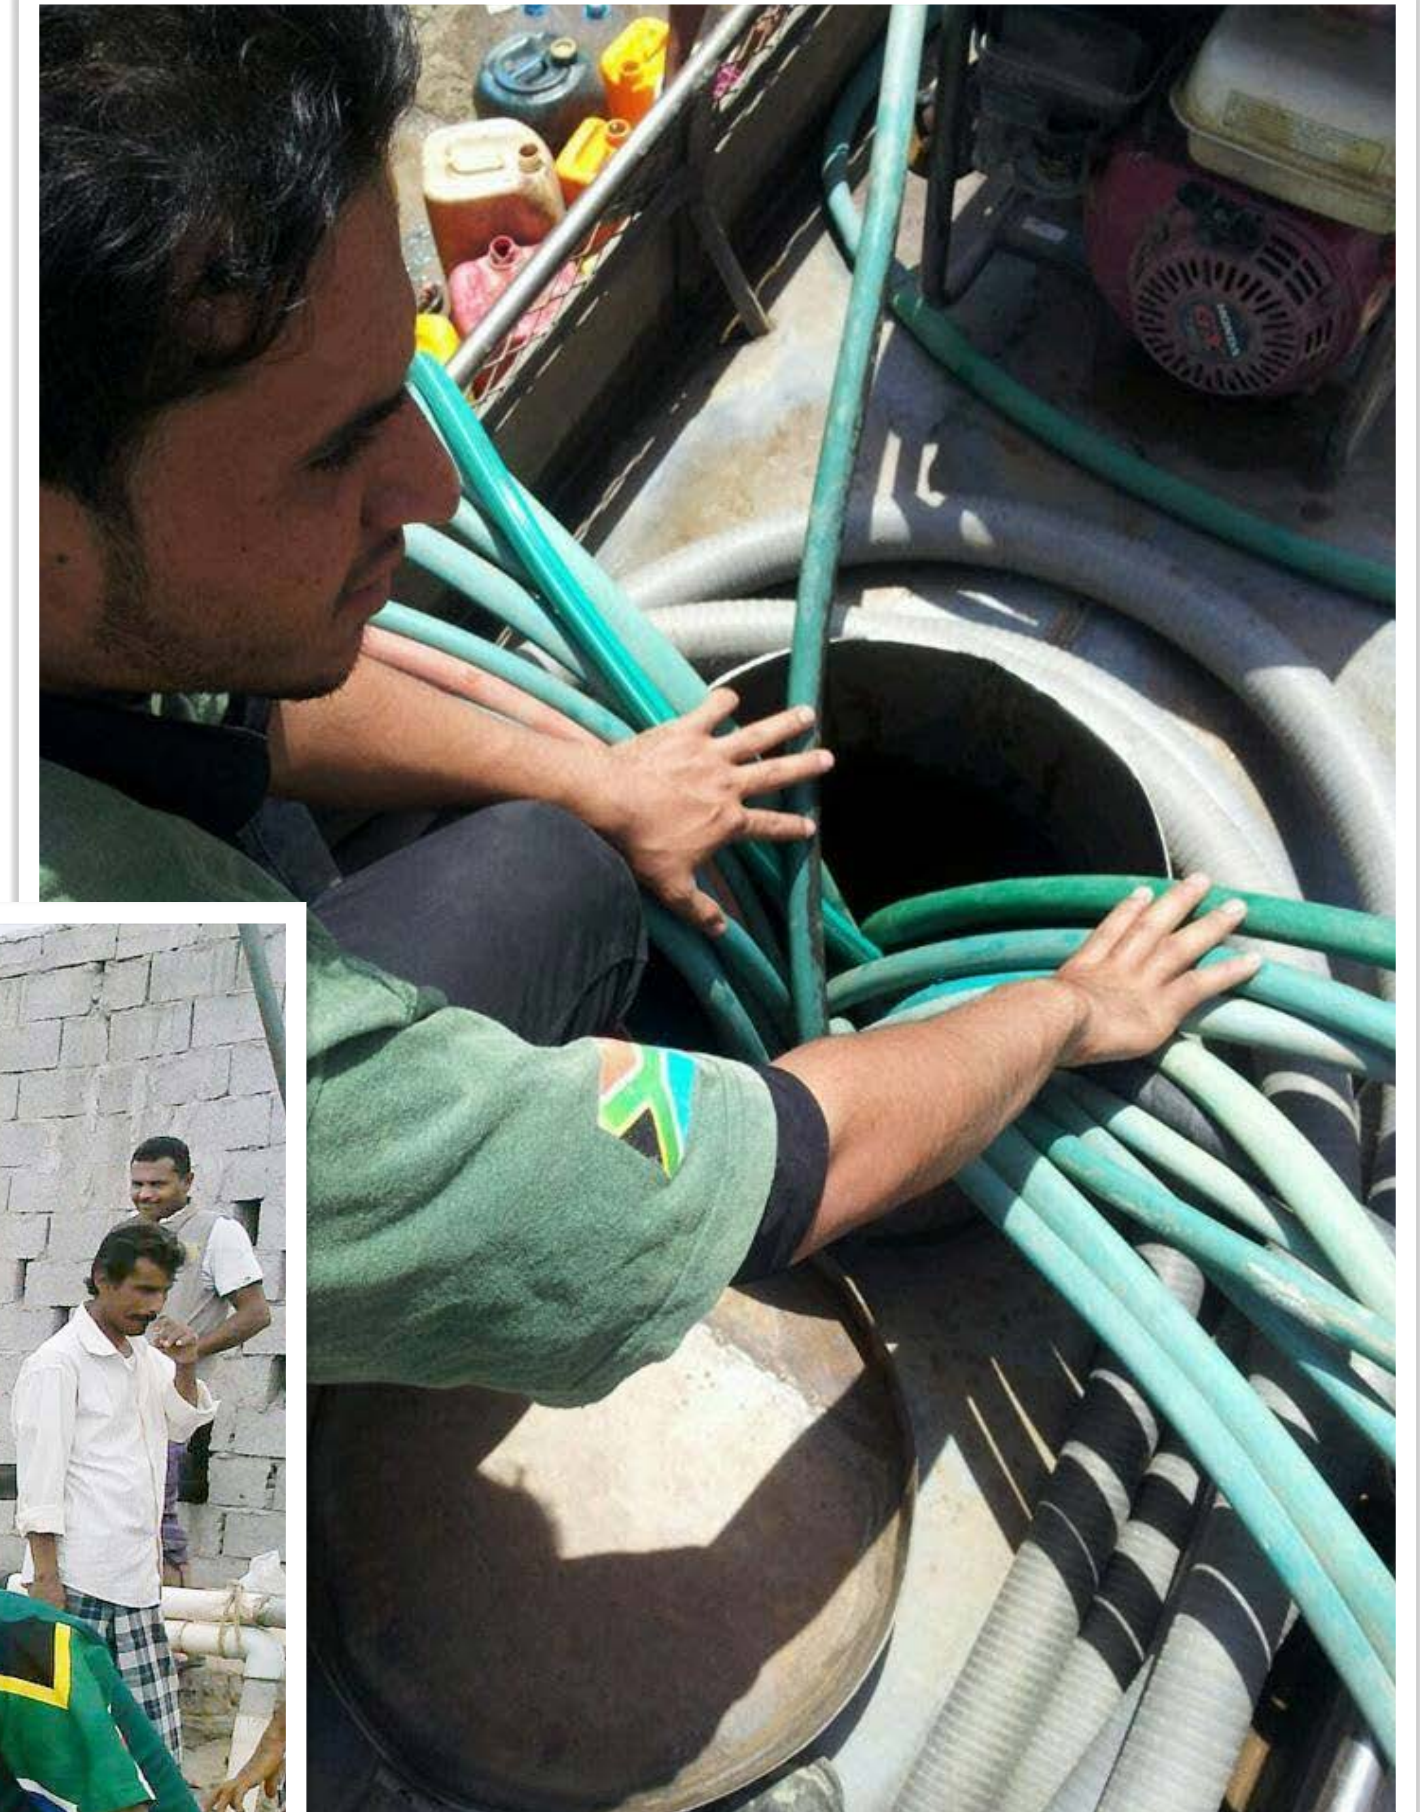

Yemen's intrinsic beauty, reflected in its rich heritage and scenic landscapes, contrasts starkly with the devastation wrought by years of conflict.

Yemen is the origin of all the Gulf countries where the ancient civilizations flourished and the roots of Arab culture run deep.

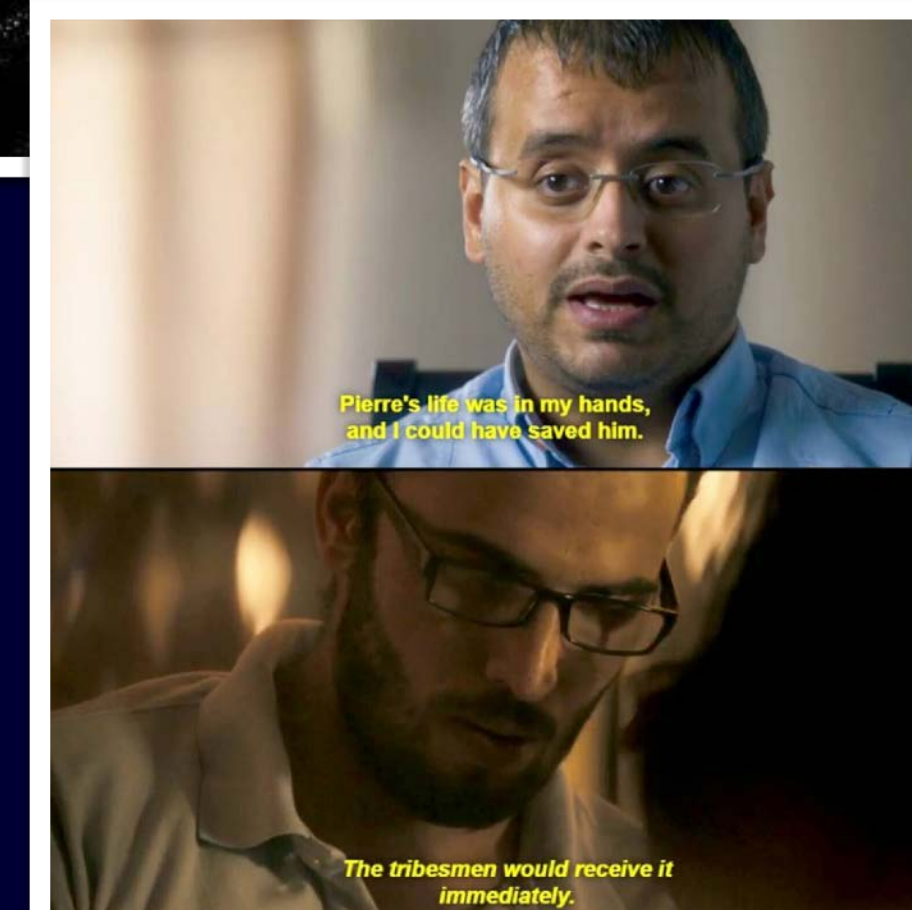

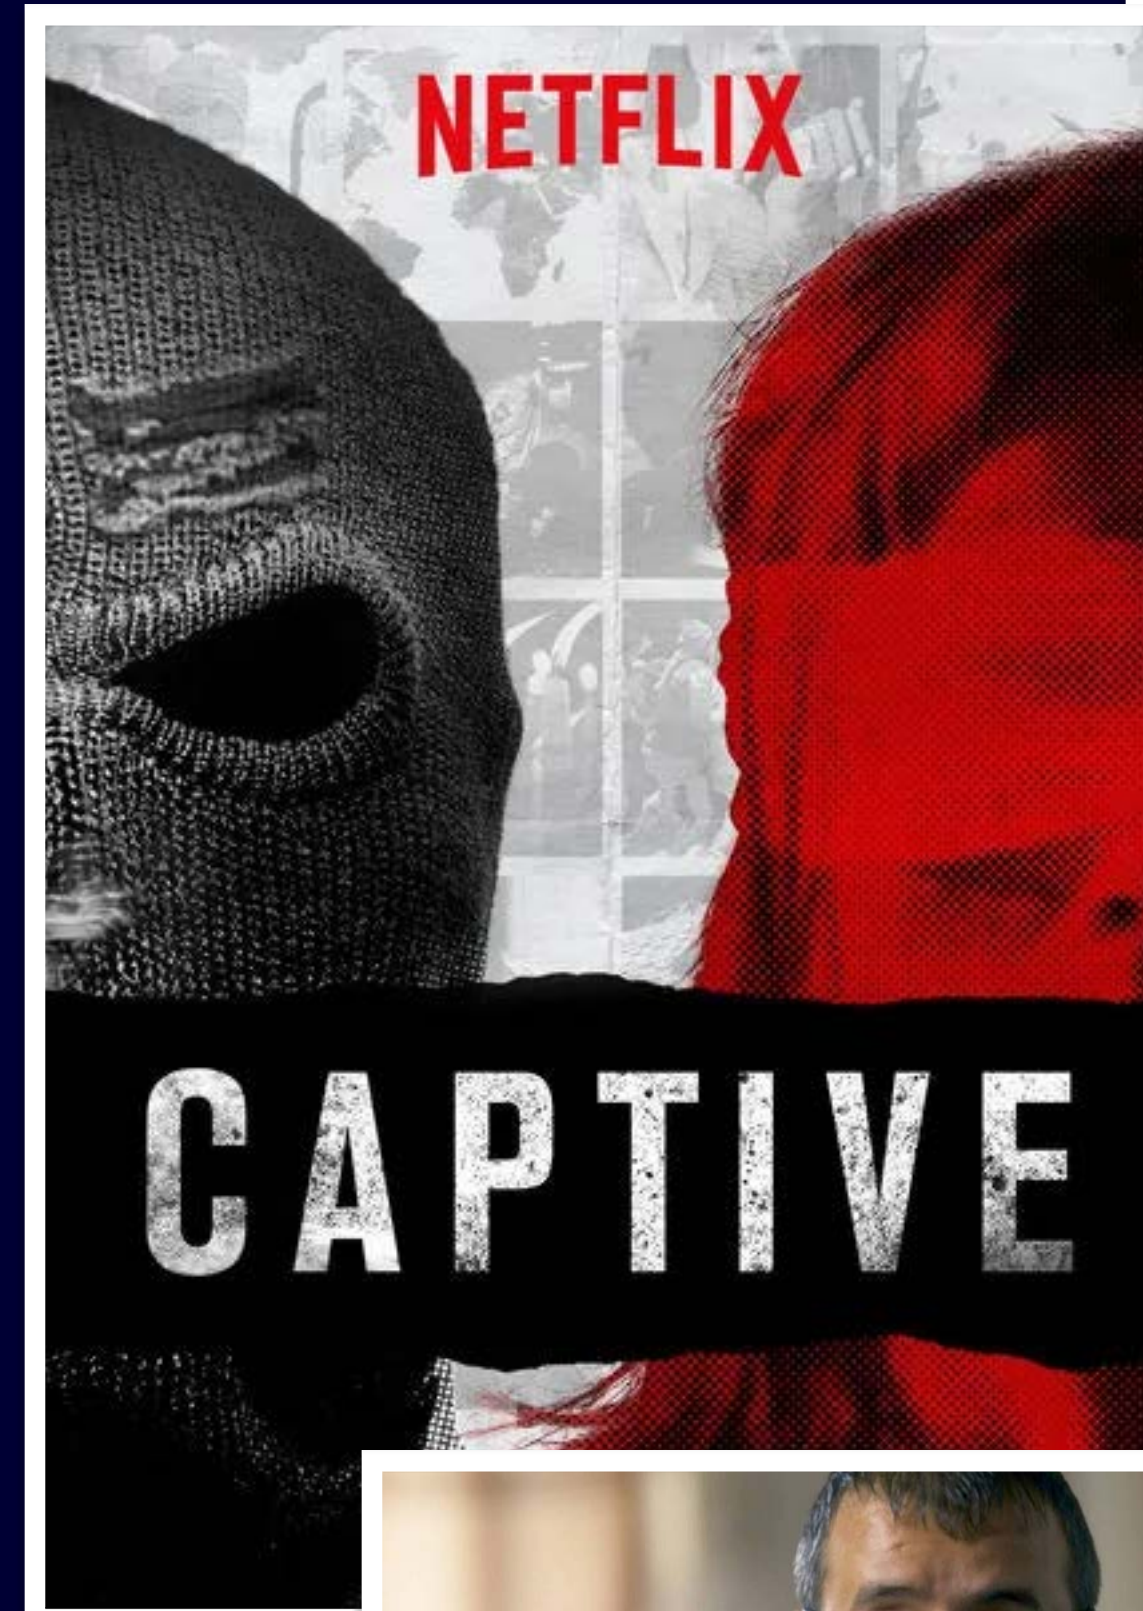

VUCA Business environment

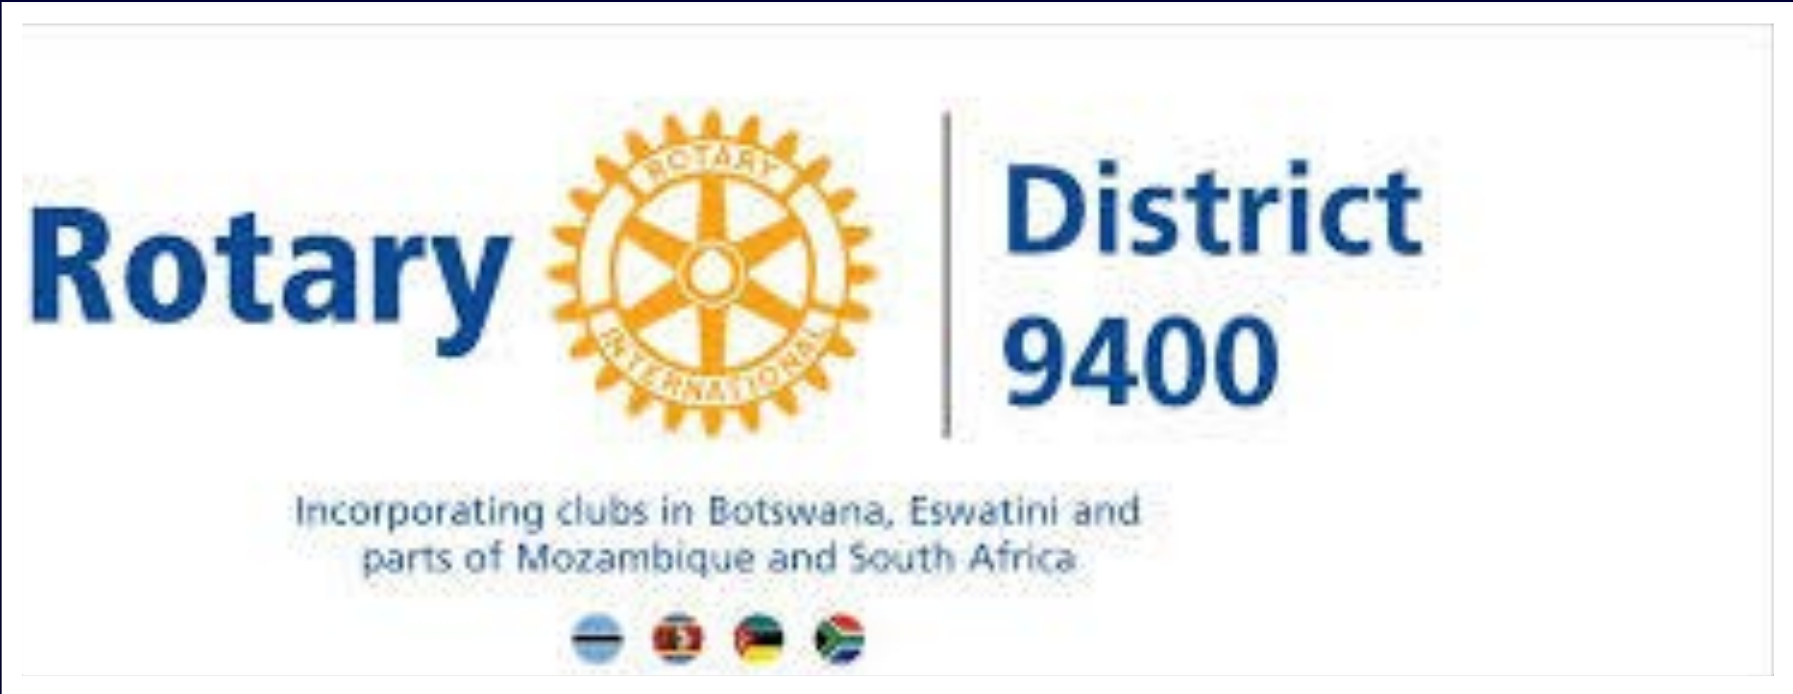

In Yemen's volatile and uncertain VUCA (volatile, uncertain, complex, ambiguous) business environment, the humanitarian workers navigated immense challenges to deliver humanitarian assistance.

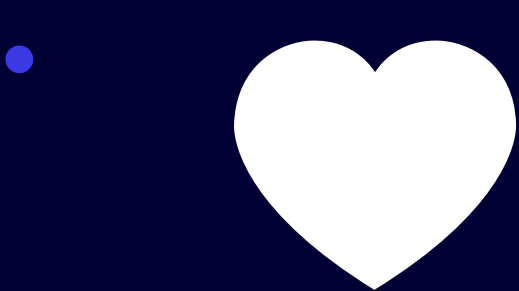

- From Yemen to South Africa
- I successfully secured the release of a South African hostage held captive in Yemen by Al-Qaeda without any ransom.
- Through negotiations and utilizing various channels, I facilitated the safe liberation of the hostage.
