

THE NEED

NZ suicide statistics are amongst the worst in the world, with Northland young peoples lives deemed higher risk. This project is a 'preventative measure' response to the urgent need to improve the mental health and well-being of our Northland tamariki, especially in the wake of Covid. Studies show that the prevalence of mental illness in 11-year-olds is almost 20%, rising to over 35% by the time children reach adulthood at 18 years. The Te Tai Tokerau Tamariki Mental Wellbeing Project will address this need by teaching our tamariki about their feelings at an early age, in schools. Northland studies show that learning to recognise and regulate emotions is one of three vital areas to improve wellbeing in children.

TE TAI TOKERAU TAMARIKI MENTAL WELLBEING PROJECT

Helping Northland Tamariki Think and Be Healthy for Good

The Think and Be Me program was founded by Cat Levine in response to the rise of mental illness in children and young people. Alongside a team of experts, she has created a program based on Cognitive Behavioural Therapy principles and, in turn, develops resilience and coping skills.

The program includes

- School Presentations
- Teacher Training
- Digital and Physical Resources

This program equips teachers with the knowledge and resources, to help children learn the emotional skills they'll need for a life of wellbeing.

- Managing Emotions
- Overcoming Anxiety
- Managing Anger
- Building Resilience
