Letter from the District Governor

My Fellow Rotarians:

Happy New Year! Welcome to Vocational Service Month! In this month, we are asked to spend a little extra effort to promote this aspect of Rotary, which is often overlooked. This organization was founded on the basis of strength in the diversity of our professions and how we can use those skills to make our communities and our world a better place. I urge you to talk about this in your clubs. Take a look at your club's emphasis on Vocational Service. Do you offer a mentorship program? Have you promoted a Career Fair? Have you visited the businesses of your members? Does your club offer a business directory? If you need ideas, go to www.rotary.org and check out the Rotary Showcase and see what other clubs have done. This would also be a great opportunity to go to the district website at www.rotarydistrict7410.org and update your professional profile. Also, this might be a great month to join the Rotary Means Business Fellowship! This might be a time to put an offer (for free) on Rotary Global Rewards from your business. There are plenty of ways to celebrate our professions, and I hope that you take advantage of them.

I am personally looking forward to 2018. We have recently lost some Rotarians, who were very active on the District level. PDG Ray Wilmarth, PDG Bob Wehe, Past AG Al Kobe, and Hamlin Rotary's Jeff Hathaway, passed away and have left a legacy for us to follow. We will not forget them, and we will continue to work to strengthen Rotary in Northeast Pennsylvania.

We are sending our best wishes to

DISTRICT GOVERNOR CONTINUES....

DGE Roger Mattes as he goes to International Assembly in San Diego this month. When he returns, he will be holding the Pre-PETS and Foundation Training events. It shows a great respect for our organization and our clubs to get training. The side benefit is that the training one receives through Rotary helps to hone skills that are applicable for your professions. I am always amazed at the skill set which has been my privilege to acquire through my 10-year association with Rotary. Don't forget to register for Rotary Leadership Institute on March 4, 2018 at www.rlinea.org. Rotarians are leaders, by definition, and this additional training helps to develop skills in organization, public speaking, strategic planning, and team building.

I also ask that you remember that the district conference is April 22-24, 2018, which is a Sunday through Tuesday, at the fabulous Kalahari Resort. Don't forget to ask for two days off now! Registration is open. We have a great line up of speakers and activities planned. Golfing will be on Tuesday, and the Memorial Service will take place on the first evening at sunset. We are seeking committee members for this year's conference. Watch your snail mail for additional information.

I wish for you a blessed and prosperous New Year!

Yours In Service,
DG Karin

Losing Two of Our Best on Christmas

We have lost two more active Rotarians in our district, both on Christmas Day.

First, Al Kobe, immediate past AG from Cluster 3, of the Honesdale Rotary, passed away on Christmas Day. I do not have service information at this time. He was a dedicated member of our organization and had high hopes of getting more active again. Sadly, this never came to be. I really loved our off-beat conversations, especially at District Conference.

Second, E. Jefferies (Jeff) Hathaway, founding president of Hamlin Lake Ariel Rotary, died after a short fight against small cell lung cancer. Jeff was always upbeat, loved to golf, loved his martinis, LOVED his profession as a veterinarian, and REALLY loved Rotary. The Hamlin Lake Ariel Rotary is planning to put together a memorial service for Tuesday, January 9, in the evening. I will post details as I know them.

Of course, PDG Bob Wehe's service is today at 3:00 p.m. with calling hours from 1:00 p.m. to 3:00 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church on Main Street in Stroudsburg. It has been requested that Rotarians wear clothing/shirts that have a logo or a pin, just to show support.

With Sadness,
DG Karin

Rotarians Celebrate Holiday with Their Families

On Dec 21, the Tunkhannock Rotarians invited family members to a celebration of the holidays at Purkey's Pink Apple. Although the Rotary moto is "Service above Self," this was a day for fun, fun and more fun.

After a special holiday lunch and happy bucks, professional storyteller and Rotarian Pastor Lou Divis ran into the room dressed like a child with pigtails, jumped up on a chair and did an amazing interpretation of "Twas the Night Before Christmas." Lou had previously enacted this tale at the 2017 Tunkhannock Library Christmas Show in early December to thunderous applause. Lou stayed in character throughout her performances until little Lou ran out of the room at the end.

After Lou, 11 members of the Tunkhannock High School Chorus under the direction of Tara Kasperowski, performed a selection of Christmas music for the entertainment of the members, their guests, the restaurant staff and the diners in the restaurant.

Although some of the songs were unknown to many, they ended their performance with some traditional carols to which everyone was invited to sing along.

Following the choral performance, everyone wearing a Christmas sweater was assembled for the ugly sweater contest, except for officers Samantha Maruzzelli (President), Carol Ziomek (Secretary) and Sandy Lane (Treasurer), who had almost blinded everyone with their flashing lighted necklaces and multi-color flashing lighted head pieces during the luncheon.

Although there were a lot of competitors, many were eliminated as too traditional or too pretty. The three ugly Christmas sweater finalists were selected by judges Glenn Holcombe and Ron Furman (neither was in Christmas attire).

The placement of the finalists was determined by audience applause.

First place went to Mike Markovitz for his outstanding jacket decorated back and front by his daughter Kaitlyn.

Second place went to Ruth Gorski and third place to Norm Werkheiser (who incidentally was last year's winner).

"Little Lou" gets everyone into the spirit by reciting a Christmas classic.

Talented Teen Savoring His Time in Chile

Greg Boatman is a multi-talented young man with outstanding social skills, the curiosity to be willing to try just about anything if he thinks he'll learn something from it and the ability to make friends easily. These assets have all served him well after just four months as an exchange student in Chile. The Wyalusing Valley High School student who is sponsored by the Wyalusing Area Rotary Club is living just outside the mid-sized city of Valdivia, “Valdivia is thought to be one of the most beautiful cities in Chile, owing to both its location (near the juncture of the rivers Calle-Calle and Cau-Cau) and its architecture,” Greg reported on Christmas Eve.

He said that there are a lot of people in that area of German heritage “who tend to be a bit taller than the rest of the country.” Since Greg is a pretty tall teen himself, topping six feet, he should feel right at home there — and apparently he does.

As a rural denizen from the tiny village of Herrickville in the Pennsylvania Northern Tier county of Bradford, Greg conceded that the most dramatic and exciting transition for him has been coping with urban life:

“I'm not sure it's so much of a difference between countries, but I think the biggest change for me has been the shift to living in a city. Before coming I had never stopped a taxi or a bus on my own, and now I do it frequently. In fact, with my host family being somewhat busy during the school year, I've often had to mobilize myself.

“It's been an interesting and exciting change. And fortunately, if I ever start to get overwhelmed, I always get to go back to my host family's house (in a more pastoral setting a few minutes outside of the city) where I have a connection to a more rural environment again.”

The summer season is approaching now but when Greg arrived in Chile near the end of winter (late August/early September) it seemed to be raining much of the time.

“While rain is not very constant in the summer, I remember arriving in the winter and hearing rain tapping on the tin roof almost incessantly, sometimes soft and light, sometimes very hard,” he recalls.

Although they are now on a summer break from the school he attends in the heart of the city, the Instituto Inmaculada Concepción (Institute of the Immaculate

To Those Who Fought and Died on Foreign Soil

BY JIM DAVENPORT

It is the 100-year anniversary of our nation's entry into World War I. Dunmore Rotarians, discovered that there were no monuments in Lackawanna County that included each of the names of Lackawanna County residents who made the ultimate sacrifice during that war. And there was no publicly available list of names that we could find.

Club members decided to perform the necessary research to find the names of the 262 brave men who died from Lackawanna County.

The 9 a.m. ceremony on November 11, 2017 was covered by the Scranton Times, WNEP Channel 16 and WBRE channel 28.

Our program, attached, included inspiring speeches by PDG Congressman Matt Cartwright, State Senator John Blake and Majority Commissioner Patrick O'Malley.

We were overwhelmed by the generosity of our friends and neighbors and so many more that donated labor, materials and large checks. We installed 12x12-inch blue stone pavers with names of $500-plus donors and 4x8-inch bricks for $100-plus donors.

Our District Governor, Karin-Susan Breitlauch was kind enough to attend and accept our thanks for her leadership.

We are happy to share everything that we learned from this good project with you, our fellow Rotarians. Next year, 2018, is the 100 year anniversary of the signing of the armistice ending WWI. Other clubs in the district may choose to erect similar monuments.

Good people asked us, "Why are you undertaking this expensive project?" Our research taught us that many of our brave soldiers were buried in France. We wanted a memorial to them on their home soil. They deserved it. We received letters from great nieces and a nephew describing their fallen uncles. Then there were grandfathers who survived, but "always suffered the effects of that experience." Sen. John Blake showed us battle plans given him by his WWI veteran grandfather. I showed a picture of my favorite WWI pilot-my grandfather. This generation is close.

Why did we do it? I paraphrased Abraham Lincoln: "So the descendants of the fallen may read the names of their relatives on our monument, and reap the solemn pride that must be theirs alone to have laid so costly a sacrifice upon the altar of freedom".

We were honored to complete this work and would be happy to support other clubs if they choose a similar project.

Conception), he started going to school almost as soon as he settled in with his host family. The school day starts with a prayer at about 7:50 a.m. and ends about 4 p.m. Classes are much longer than in Wyalusing at about an hour and a half, and the schedule is different every day, he reports, confessing that “it took a while to get used to these changes.”

“Generally, school seems to be a little more rigorous here. However, I feel very closely connected with all of my classmates, and they have helped me out with any difficulties I've had.”

Then there is the Rotary connection, which has added to the excitement and adventure of those first four months.

“The kids in my Rotary District (No. 4355) are also a great group! We don't always get the chance to meet up as often as we'd like, but when we're together, we enjoy every minute. We milk the fun out of every second! We have three big trips this year. One of them we just had in early December — a trip to Patagonia, the extreme south of Chile. Next, in March, we'll take a trip to the north and visit the Atacama Desert — the driest desert in the world. Finally, in May we'll take a trip to the famous Easter Island!”

Greg, a talented musician and performer at Wyalusing Valley High where he qualified for the PMEA's All-State Chorus and played lead roles in high school musicals his sophomore and junior years, hit the ground running in Chile. He sings with the school choir, as well as a local community choir, in Valdivia and even played in a rock band. He also plans on doing some sailing there, has practiced with the school volleyball team and plans to get involved with the Environmental Club.

“So far I've loved my experience,” he says. “I feel I've developed more independence and self-confidence. Furthermore, I feel very comfortable with the language now, which was one of my goals going into exchange.”

Sending Kids on a Holiday Shopping Spree

On Saturday, December 2nd the Dallas Rotary Club invited 45 children on a "wishes come true" shopping spree at the Bon Ton in Wyoming. On the way to their shopping destination via a big yellow school bus provided by the Davis Bus Company, the children were treated to a free breakfast sponsored by McDonald's in Shavertown. Then they shopped for two hours at Bon Ton, followed by a party, with more gifts, sponsored by the employees of the store.

Several Rotarians and other volunteers came out to help the children purchase their gifts with a generous allowance provided by the Dallas Rotary Club. More than two dozen students from Misericordia University helped the children select their treasures, and students from the Dallas Key Club and Lake-Lehman were also on hand to help.

This was a day to remember because the children were so happy to take home their large bags of clothes, coats, boots and whatever else they needed for school. When the children returned to Wycallis, it was a joy to just stand back and watch the children all talking at once as they showed their gifts to their family members who picked them up.

The children's shopping spree and other Rotary projects are made possible by community members who support and attend their annual wine festival in June at the

At its meeting on December 7th, the New Milford Area Rotary Club hosted Ben Galvin, a student from Mountain View High School, and his family. Ben spent the past year as a Rotary exchange student in Thailand.

He presented a slide show about his time there where he lived with three Thai families, attended a Thai school, learned to speak Thai and cook Thai food.

He became an accomplished badminton player, and traveled extensively in Thailand, Laos and Cambodia.

Also on the agenda was a presentation of a Paul Harris Fellow certificate and pin to Club President David Palmer by Rotary Assistant District Governor Norman Kelly. .

Improving Lives of Single Women with Children

Katherine Pohlidal, Director of Misericordia University's Ruth Matthews Bourger Women with Children (WWC) Program was a guest speaker at the Dec 14 Tunkhannock Rotary Luncheon at Purkey's Pink Apple.

Katherine described the WWC program, which was started in 2000 by Sister Jean Messaros, a Sister of Mercy and Vice President of Mission Integration at the University. The program empowers economically disadvantaged single women and their children to realize their full potential through higher education. The women must first be accepted into Misericordia and then can apply for the program that will provide them with four years of free housing and various types of assistance and enrichment programs for themselves and their children.

They can currently accommodate 16 single mothers and their children.

Women, who have graduated from this program, have become successful professionals and their children are going on to college.

Two of the women currently in the WWC program, Caitlyn Thomas and Regina Croto, related their own experiences in the program and the significant differences it has made in their lives and that of their children. They both acknowledged the tremendous support that they have received from the staff and from the other women in the program.

Each of the WWC participants are expected to work at least 10 hr per week while studying full time to help meet their expenses for tuition and personal needs.

That does not leave much money to buy gifts for their children for Christmas. To help ensure that these children have a great holiday, Tunkhannock Rotary President Samantha Maruzzelli presented them with a check for $500 to buy gifts for the children of the WWC participants.

Summer Camp Gives Kids Needed Assist

Recently Cathy Franko, Director of H.A.N.D.S. of Wyoming County, spoke to the Tunkhannock Rotary about their summer FANS camp. The six-week camp is for children 5-12 years of age from low income families or who have disabilities.

The children learn how to interact with each other, as well as, learn about nature, science, math, engineering, art (including sidewalk art) and more.

Rotary provided $5,000 toward the 2017 FANS camp, which enrolled 36 children.

For 2018, they hope to increase enrollment to 40 participants. As a result of the very successful 2017 Rotary Harvest & Wine Festival, Rotary presented HANDS with a total of $5,000 toward the 2018 FANS camp.

Candy Canes Result In Sweet Success

On Black Friday, Nov. 24, members of the Tunkhannock Rotary and the Rotary-sponsored Tunkhannock High School Interact Club collected monetary donations from shoppers at four locations in Tunkhannock (Gay's, Walmart, Weis and Tractor Supply Plazas) from 8 AM to 1 PM to buy toys for kids for Christmas. Shoppers were offered candy canes as a treat for their donations.

This fund-raising activity has been undertaken by the Tunkhannock Rotary for more than 25 years. This year the candy canes were donated by Northeast Data. The volunteers were also very grateful for the hot coffee, cocoa and donuts provided by Dunkin Donuts.

Over $2,500 was collected from the very generous public.

Rotarians Take Kids on a Shopping Spree

It was a morning filled with the Christmas spirit for some lucky area youngsters and Rotary Club members and their families/friends who got together on Sunday, December 10th, at Boscov's for a special holiday shopping spree.

Sponsored and supported by the Rotary Club of Hazleton, the project is a co-operative effort by the Rotary Club, the United Way of Greater Hazleton and Boscov's. Over 30 children whose names were provided by the Salvation Army, Catholic Social Services and Commission on Economic Opportunity were given an hour to purchase gifts for themselves and/or family members.

Special thanks is extended to Boscov's for opening their store early for this community service project and for providing refreshments for everyone once the shopping was ended.

The following Rotary Club members, as well as some family members/friends, served as chaperones helping the shoppers:

Continuing a Holiday Tradition in Jim Thorpe

For the 19th year in a row, the Rotary Club of Jim Thorpe has led the way to provide clothing for children in need in the Jim Thorpe area.

The process started by having counselors at five schools including Head Start and GED students (another club project) ask parents what clothing all the children in their family needed. These names and needs were consolidated by faculty members in the marketing classes of the Carbon Career and Technical Institute. Each child had an individual Foreman Mills bag paired with a list specifying gender, age, size, and type of clothing desired. Simultaneously, club members asked for financial support from various individuals and businesses. This year we were able to gather $5050 from nine donors ranging from $1500 from an anonymous donor to $50 from a local pharmacy.

On shopping day, December 11, 30 shoppers invaded Foreman Mills in Whitehall when they opened at 9 a.m. The "thrifty 30" included 8 club members and spouses, 16 CCTI marketing students along with 3 faculty and 3 volunteers. Most appear in the accompanying photo. By 1 p.m. we had purchased 871 articles of clothing for 109 children from 46 families averaging 8 items per child. After a 10 percent discount from Foreman Mills, the total spent was $5595 for an average of $51.33 per child. With an additional $250 for wrapping bags, supplies, and pizza, the grand total came to $5845. The remaining $795 came from the club. But had the number of children been closer to the historical average of around 125, the club's contribution would have been more.

The following morning, all 109 individual bags were brought to the Jim Thorpe High School where 19 National Honor Society students helped 5 club members put each stack of clothing neatly into holiday bags. Following a pizza lunch, bags were delivered to the five locations for final distribution to each family. Another pizza party will be scheduled for the CCTI shoppers after the holidays.

About 70 individuals and businesses chipped in time, money or discounts to make Christmas a little happiness. If you'd like to be part of this next year, (shameless request) send your tax deductible contribution to the Jim Thorpe Rotary Foundation, P.O. Box 103, Jim Thorpe 18229!

Doing Her Best to Make a Five Year Old Happy

Finding Real Superheroes for Christmas

BY EILEEN CHRISTIAN

At our Thanksgiving dinner held at the regular Rotary Club meeting at the Ramada in November, a paper was passed along for Rotarians to sign up to buy presents for children in the Early Childhood Program at the North Scranton Head Start School.

Only a few children were left when the paper came to me, so I chose a five-year-old boy who wanted super hero toys for Christmas. I thought of the many super heroes this boy would probably know all about, like Spider Man, Superman, and Iron Man. I wondered if anyone ever told him there were real superheroes around him every day. And they did not wear capes. Heroes like his mother and father or like his teachers or the crossing guard. Heroes like the local policeman, or fireman. These super heroes have no ability to climb walls or fly through the air. They are ordinary people who do super hero jobs when a crisis comes. But all superheroes, whether real or imagined have the same mission, to help others in need.

I will buy presents for this child. Although I am not much good at picking out gifts for a five year old looking for a superhero, I will do my best. I am sure I will not find presents that show the fireman and policeman saving lives and I will have to resort to the imaginative hero dolls that can do anything. I will wrap my gifts with Christmas paper and tie them with ribbons.

On the appointed day, I will bring in my gifts for the chosen boy, only knowing his first name, his class and what his magic wish is. I will hope that the superheroes he wants for Christmas will inspire him.

The teachers from the North Scranton Head Start, the REAL super heroes, will be our luncheon guests. Lists will be checked to be certain that no child is left behind and every child will have a Christmas present.

Red Kettle Campaign

Besides the individual gifting of presents for the children at Head Start in Scranton, every Rotarian will take at least a two hour stint, stand in front of the Pennsylvania Liquor Store on Rts. 6 and 11, begging for pass-

Third Graders Enjoy a “Defining” Moment

The Rotary Club of Hazleton has been purchasing and donating new dictionaries, annually, to area students since 2001. Third graders at all of the Hazleton Area Elementary Schools (Freeland is covered by Freeland Rotary) are the student recipients, as well as third graders from Holy Family Academy and Immanuel Christian School.

This is a yearly event done as a way for the club to introduce young people to the “wonder of words”. Many local children lack internet access, and these dictionaries give them all a common starting point, while making classroom dictionary exercises possible. Project Chairman Joe Lettiere says, “People think today’s youngsters only use computers and wouldn’t have a use for dictionaries, but we are finding that a lot of students enjoy the dictionaries and appreciate the ability to physically open a book and look up a word. It’s really neat to see their reaction when they first receive one.”

Hazleton Rotarians Toni Ruggerio, President Toni Christman, Donna Barna and Carla Thaller delivered dictionaries to McAdoo Elementary School on Dec. 8th.

ers-by to contribute to the Red Kettle project of the Salvation Army.

Veronica Dende is a new member of Rotary and she recently did her first two hour assignment at the Liquor Store collecting. She brought her two teen children with her, Chis and Kate Dende. She said she wanted them to see Rotary in action and she hoped they would get involved. She said that one person put money into the kettle and told her that when he needed help most, the Salvation Army was there.

Our Salvation Army Kettle program is once again headed by Gail Cicerini and Diane Calabro who monitor the money from the kettle; arrange for someone to be on hand to collect every two hours for every weekend in December; account for all the money collected for the Salvation Army and keep a steady flow of Rotarians ringing the bell for a great cause. We, Rotarians, have done this project every year for more than forty years. We are bolstered by the fact that no other service organization raises this much money for the Salvation Army and that all the money raised stays here, helping the poor among us.

Mountain of Christmas Gifts

Helping Out Food Pantry

Debbie Lohnes, Director of North Pocono Dry Goods, accepts donations from North Pocono Rotary Honorary Member Ralph Foytack. The food pantry has been struggling financially in helping needy families in Moscow and surrounding communities.
