

Costa Georgiadis is an Australian landscape architect and television presenter. He currently hosts Gardening Australia on ABC and previously appeared as 'Costa the Garden Gnome' in the ABC Kids program Get Grubby TV.

Costa was born in Sydney and grew up in North Bondi on the same street as his grandparents and uncle. His grandparents fostered his early interest in gardening. He worked as a landscaper whilst studying landscape architecture at University of New South Wales, where he developed an interest in sustainability.

From 2009 to 2011, he presented SBS's Costa's Garden Odyssey, a programme that explored the relationship between gardening, sustainability, and spirituality.

In 2021, Georgiadis was the host of a six part podcast called “Gardening Buds”, which is featured in the ABC Kids Listen app and in 2023, he began hosting Gardening Australia Junior on ABC Kids.

For his hosting role on Gardening Australia, Georgiadis won the Silver Logie for Most Popular Presenter and was nominated for the Gold Logie for Most Popular Personality on Australian Television at the 2019 Logie Awards.
