She started Uplifting Nonprofits in 2010 with a crazy mission to "save" the world. In addition, she provides leadership training and coaching to nonprofits. She is known for her program "Unleash Your Inner Fundraiser."

Sonia was in the hospitality/hotel sector for many years and managed teams of up to 30 people. She brings this experience of relationship building and collaboration into her current successful ventures with nonprofits.

She has had the opportunity to be on Air Force One, Marine One, and in the West Wing. She has met almost every living President except for President Carter and the current President.

Coming from a multicultural background and speaking 3 languages - Arabic, French and English and travels regularly, except for now. She lives to travel and eat popcorn and potato chips!
