Invocation & Pledge

Our Invocation was delivered by Ron Cisco, who reminded us of the Optimist commitment to work only for the best. He then led the Pledge of Allegiance.

From the Prez

President Jim Easton said that our club's very extensive project list has been updated and will soon be sent to all club members. The big task of putting that together was tackled by Vice Presidents Mike McMahon and Everett Gardner. Thanks to them both!

Andy Towt is the newest member of our club, after being voted in on Wednesday evening at the board meeting. Welcome Andy! Not wasting any time getting involved, Andy was spotted at the Brain Bowl Championships Saturday morning at Hamilton Middle School.

between 10:00 an 4:00 p.m. Jeannie said, the Ed does well with visitors who are there while Jeannie, when he can focus better and is more stimulated. Ed is at Garden Terrace, 1400 S. Pontiac in Aurora. Jeannie's new home address is 8300 Fairmont Drive, F102, Denver, CO 80247, and her phone number is 303-322-3048.

with his guests: Pat Larson, Kent Gloor, Don and Char St.John, Jack Kitchell, Bryce Slaby, Michael Chavez, Oscar Sorenson, and Don. Many Optimist memories and stories were told. The group learned that OC's given name was actually OC, although his mother considered changing the spelling to Ocie.

T1DOC Online Auction: Ron Gustas asked OCMS members to help source donated items for the T1DOC upcoming on-line auction. This auction, to be held in May, provides funding for "Camperships" to help send kids with Type 1 Diabetes to a special near week-long camp. Auction items including travel and lodging packages, gift baskets, entertainment tickets, golf experiences, sports tickets, and memorabilia, gift cards, booze, merchandise, etc., all make great auction items. If you can help please let Ron know at rqustas@earthlink.net. Thanks for supporting the kids!

Santa Fe offers a number of activities, including the Santa Fe Opera (Madame Butterfly), a backstage tour of the Opera, the new Meow Wolf amusement facility, the Plaza Indian Market, and an Astronomy Night in the New Mexico hills. Add to this great food and shopping and the camaraderie of your fellow Optimists and an epic week-end. See Visitors Page. If we have enough interest, we may rent vans or a bus so that the 6-hour trip will be as much fun as the destination.

If you are able to help, please sign up with Paul or reach out to the parent in charge: Charis Sederberg, charismarie@gmail.com or 303-503-2437. Lowry truly appreciates the support.

Do We Have a Drawing?

We had a drawing! With $40 being wrongly reported, when it should have been $60, that was available for the lucky Optimist who found the 5 of Spades.

Les Volpe and new member Andy Towt each went for the big bucks, but the 5 of Spades eluded them. Cups of cash went to: Jack Kleinheksel, Allen Malask, Frank Middleton, Terry Shroyer, Pat Bush, and Tom Glazier.

For the nametag drawing, Robert Finkelmeier's name was called! It was reported that this was the first time in 30 plus years that the good Dr. Bob's name was drawn! You would think he was due, but alas, no luck.

Maro Casparian

Director Consumer Protection, Denver District Attorney's Office

Our speaker today was Maro Casparian, Director of Consumer Fraud Protection for the Denver District Attorney's Office. Maro does presentations for groups about frauds, scams, and identity theft. As she started her humorous and fun-loving presentation she says the Denver District Attorney's office is seeing an explosion of scams involving fake IRS agents around Denver due to the tax season.

Maro Casparian

She says that many people who have fallen for a scam or a fraud are embarrassed to report it, but it is by these reports that scams can be researched and people can be warned. "What all scams have in common is they put the fear in someone," Maro said. "That's what they do is catch people off guard so you're not thinking properly. And what I always say when I do presentations is hang up."

She shared "The Five Red Flag of a Scam," which are:

1. Fear. If someone calls and your first reaction is "Oh No!", then take heed.
2. Asks for "verification" of your personal information. Is the person asking to "confirm" your full social security number or bank account number?
3. Pay up and Pay immediately. Scammer will say "I can help you," but you must pay now, over the phone.
4. Requests payment in the form of a gift card. No reputable company, no lawyer, not the IRS or Microsoft, requires you to go to a store and purchase some form of a gift card (could be from any store, Best Buy, Walgreens, etc.) or an iTunes card, or some sort of other card.

5. Tells you to tell no one.

She shared that if your Social Security card is taken, your identity can be fully stolen. Do Not carry your number or card with you. This includes Medicare cards, which contain your SSN. If you must carry it, draw a sharpie line through the first 5 digits leaving the last four. If you are asked to verify your SSN it just provide the last four digits that are needed.

Investment scams are most successful working on men between the ages of 60-80, who are well educated with more financial resources.

If you would like to receive the District Attorney's Office monthly scam alert send an email to my Maro at amc@denverda.org and just put "subscribe" in the subject line and she will add your name. You can also go to District Attorneys website www.denverda.org to find fraud alerts that are easily copied—the website also allows for translation into multiple languages.

Maro will provide more tips in the come weeks, but her handout documents are attached the GUMS distribution email. See "Resources" to contact, "Reduce Your ID Theft Risks," and "What is your ID Theft Probability Score," along with the "Speak up: Against Elder Abuse" flier.
